LOSE VETO OVERWHERE SINGLY VOTED DOWN IN HOUSE AS DEATH CAUSE IN UTILITY MEASURE'S REJECTED

Action Is Adverse On Eastern Time Election for City

Mayor Key's Veto of Salary Increases for Employees of Municipality Is Sustained by Fractional Vote Margin.

$1,000,000 IN BONDS
ASKED FOR SEWERS

Savage Instructed To Prepare Ordinance for Added $500,000 Issue for Storm Water Work.

City council yesterday authorized a city-wide referendum on flotation of $1,000,000 worth of bonds for modernization of the sewer system of the metropolitan area.

It also voted to instruct City Attorney Jack C. Savage to prepare an ordinance for a referendum on $500,000 worth of bonds for storm water improvements, tabled all references to a referendum on establishment of eastern time for the city and sustained Mayor Key's veto to salary reinstatement for employees.

The $1,000,000 sewer bond proposal was offered by the finance committee and the sewer committee, but no definite date has yet been set for the referendum. It is expected that Alderman Frank H. Reynolds, chairman of the sewer committee, will ask that the date be chosen for some Wednesday in September.

Three Aldermen Opposed. There was no councilmanic opposition to the proposal, but Aldermen Murphy, Barrett and Bailey opposed it in the aldermanic board.

The same opposition was met in the aldermanic board on the move to have Savage prepare the $500,000 for storm sewer improvements.

Soon after council convened, Alderman Gloor Hailey, proponent of daylight saving time, but opponent of the eastern time referendum, offered a resolution seeking to place the city on an eastern time zone until 1936. The language of the resolution would have put council on record as opposed to any referendum this year.

Councilman John A. White, fourth ward, who believes the time issue should be settled by the people and not by city council, offered a substitute resolution seeking to place the city on an eastern time zone until 1936.

Key's veto to allocation of $27,500 for reinstatement of part of the salary cuts imposed on city employees was sustained by council. Nine voted to sustain by Key's veto and 16 to override the mayor. The opponents of the veto failed to get the necessary two-thirds to override by two-thirds of one vote.

Those voting to override the mayor were:

Cobb, Loehr, Hester, Bridges, Kibler, Childs, Knight, Hastings, Olen, Rogers, Marler, Drennon, Decker, Lyle, Johnson, Sutton, Total, 16.

Voting to sustain the mayor were:

Cuba, McCutcheon, White, Milam, Continued in Page 12, Column 5.

U.S. NOW EXPECTED TO RELEASE FUNDS FOR STATE ROADS

Federal Bureau Delays Plan for Setup in Georgia; State To Let Contracts Today.

Release of Georgia's $19,000,000 in federal highway funds was freely predicted here yesterday as the State Highway Board prepared to announce today $1,000,000 worth of projects to be let for contract with state funds if the federal government refuses its approval and Director Thomas H. McDonald, for the Federal Road Bureau, announced in Washington that the government has decided, for the time being, at least, not to attempt to set up its own organization in the state.

Whether or not McDonald and Secretary of Agriculture Wallace will completely back down in their demands on the State Highway Board, demands which the board refuses to agree to, or will find some other way out of its difficulty could not be learned, but the unanimous protests piling up on the director and the secretary, including one from Congressman E. E. Cox, known political foe of Governor Talmadge and the State Administration, is nailing its effect.

The protests were added to yesterday when Senate President Charles L. Redwine, of Fayetteville, forwarded to Senators Walter F. George and Richard B. Russell Jr. and the 10 members of Georgia's delegation in congress a manifesto declaring their support of the highway department and now associated with W. F. Scott & Co., of Thomasville, a contracting firm, defending every action of the highway board.

As the matter stood yesterday the highway board had the support of all Georgia political factions, even those who previously have opposed the Talmadge administration. The highway board has refused to recede from its position taken at the outset of the controversy. The Washington officials have changed their position several times and now Director McDonald says nothing will be done immediately, although several days ago numerous plans for a separate federal highway setup in Georgia were said to be under consideration.

Board Owns Title. The fact that the State Highway Board owns the title to all important roads in Georgia, a fact which makes it impossible for the federal government to work on the roads unless the highway board permits, which it will not do, has had an important bearing on the issue.

"The federal people are ready to back down in their demands because everyone is against them," a well-known highway board official said.

GEORGIA ALLOTTED $10,256,603 FUND FOR PUBLIC WORK

Money Will Be Spent on Every Kind of Project; Miss Shepperson To Formulate Program.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—(AP)—A $10,256,603 slice from the $4,880,000,000 work relief appropriation for Georgia to initiate its general program under the Works Progress Administration was recommended today by the advisory committee on allotments.

Release now of the funds awaits only formal approval by President Roosevelt. The National Emergency Council said the money will be used for "almost every kind of project involved in the program," and was the first step in expanding integrated plans for states and separate geographical areas.

Another $300,000 was recommended for administrative expenses in Georgia.

Funds for Agriculture. The funds will finance the works program now being formulated by Miss Gay B. Shepperson, Georgia works progress administrator. The NEC gave no specific projects, but these probably will be announced by Miss Shepperson in Atlanta.

Under the terms of a bill signed by President Roosevelt today, $8,000,000 will be divided among the states on a basis of farm population to encourage co-operative agricultural extension work.

The bill provides that future appropriations for this purpose shall increase $1,000,000 annually until the total reached $12,000,000. The agricultural department has estimated that the shares of states in the initial fund, and the annual increases, will include Georgia $370,773.

Work relief chiefs opened the 12-month program intended to supply 3,500,000 jobs today by approving $310,278,881 in allocations and reserving in part to methods of the old Civil Works Administration.

The Works Administration Board recommended that five of Harry L. Hopkins state administrators spend $142,245,875 on projects of their own selection and not requiring prior Washington approval. This was the CWA method. The board said the step was designed to put a "substantial number" to work during July.

Start in 10 Days. The administrators in Alabama, Georgia, Indiana, New York city and the District of Columbia should be able to start spending "within 10 days."

An official announcement said the sum recommended—of which $4,123,000 was for administrative expenses—would give a year's work for 109,900 at an average of $812 per job for wages average $800 a year, said only $212 would be left for materials. They saw in the small per-job sum a bar to projects of the type carried out by the Public Works Administration—unless the states and communities chip in substantially. A larger amount was available for materials, however, than under CWA.

Relief Total Drops. Alabama and Indiana were available because their state administrators had presented comprehensive plans which won the praise of the President, while only work relief has prevailed in Georgia since June 1.

Other developments on the busy day opening the year-long program included:

1. July general relief allotments amounted to only $88,174,139, the lowest since last summer, although several states were not included. The June figure, which, however, included transient aid, the educational program and other items was more than $125,000,000.

2. Other recommendations by the allotment committee, bringing the total to $310,278,881 included $100,000 for Georgia.

First Lady Christens South's Fastest Mail Plane

Using a bottle of nine-year-old Veuve Cliquot P. champagne, Mrs. Eugene Talmadge yesterday christened "The Georgian," fast night mail plane which took off at 2:05 o'clock this morning on its maiden voyage from Atlanta to Dallas, Texas. The champagne, first to be used in years in Georgia for such a purpose, is indicated by a circle in the picture above. Some of those taking part in the ceremony are shown, left to right; Mrs. Talmadge, George Cushing, the pilot; Pat Higgins, operations manager for the Delta Air Lines, of Monroe, La., owners of the plane; and Jesse Draper, naval aide to the Governor of Georgia and district governor of the National Aeronautic Association. FLYING KEYS END RECORD FLIGHT

Brothers Land After Remaining in Air More Than 27 Days.

MERIDIAN, Miss., July 1.—(AP)—Fred and Al Key brought their plane, Ole Miss, to a safe landing at 8:06 p. m. (central standard time) today after spending almost a month in the skies and breaking all existing endurance flying records.

A mighty roar went up from 10,000 throats as the brothers made a perfect landing on the soggy field from which they took off on June 4, 27 days 9 hours and 34 minutes before.

The crowd mobbed the plane and bodily lifted the fliers from it after they had been greeted by their wives and children.

"It's been a hard old fight," said Fred. "I'm telling you, it isn't any fun, but we're both happy now," added Al.

J. D. Sellers, Mississippi governor for the National Aeronautic Association, directing official of the flight, immediately wired the association in Washington that a new record had been established.

Both Look Fresh. "Al and Fred Key came down voluntarily at 8:06, establishing a new world endurance record of 633 hours 34 minutes," he telegraphed. "Pilots and equipment in good condition."

The brothers were freed from the plane but their hair had grown "wild."

The official world's record for sustained flying, set at 533 hours 41 minutes and 30 seconds by John and Kenneth Hunter at Chicago in 1930, was topped last Thursday.

The unofficial record of 647 hours 28 minutes and 30 seconds, set in 1930 by Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brien at St. Louis, was passed at one minute after noon today.

It was with extreme difficulty that police line, augmented by national guardsmen, were able to hold back the crowd, and as the plane, splattered with oil, taxied up in front of the hangar, Al and Fred were unable to alight for several minutes as police pushed the throng back.

"The first thing I want to do is get a good bath," said brother Fred. "and boy, I'm going to hit the hay, and sleep for two or three days."

The Key brothers launched their flight on a "shooting" The plane itself was "borrowed" from a friend, Bill Ward Jr., and the financial backing necessary to insure continuation of the flight has been supplied by the Meridian Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The Ole Miss has traveled 32,320 miles since the takeoff June 4—far enough for the fliers to have circled the earth twice.

The fliers have made 287 radio contacts with the ground crew and members of their family. Four hundred and thirty-two contacts have been made with the refueling plane, with 107 gasoline and oil transfers made.

It was a happy reunion of the Key boys with their anxious families.

Little Nell Key, 6-year-old daughter of Al Key, was the first person to greet her daddy. She was handed up into the cabin by her mother, and grasped her famous father about the neck.

"Gee, daddy, we thought you never would come down," she said as she pulled her hands in glee.

Mrs. Al Key, who with Mrs. Fred Key, has kept constant vigil at the airport during the entire progress of the flight, greeted her husband with a resounding kiss.

Fred's wife and their four-year-old son, Sonny, were hoisted atop the plane, and Fred greeted them through the hatch, waving his hand to the crowd as he stood up.

Dying Woman 'Gives' Her Eye to Blind Boy

CHICAGO, July 1.—(UP)—Equipped with a "second hand" eye, a 14-year-old boy lay in a Chicago hospital tonight while surgeons awaited the outcome of a feat of modern science—grafting of a woman's eye to prevent blindness in the youth.

The boy, Stanley May, of Independence, Mo., injured his left eye five years ago, losing sight in that eye. Dr. Sanford Gifford, head of the department of ophthalmology at Northwestern University, told the boy's parents he believed sight could be restored by grafting a healthy cornea into the injured eye.

This week the opportunity for the operation appeared through a woman named Draper, naval aide to the Governor, who was suffering from a tumor. She agreed to the delicate operation.

Tonight Stanley told newspapermen he was "feeling fine." He wanted to be up and playing baseball again.

A group of noted Atlantans and Georgians attended the ceremony which marked the first time champagne has been used in a Georgia christening in many years. The sparkling beverage was nine years old.

Standing on the platform with Mrs. Talmadge were Lieutenant Commander Jesse Draper, naval aide to the Governor and district governor of the National Aeronautic Association; Pat Higgins, of Monroe, La., operations manager of Delta Air Lines, and George Cushing, member of the Governor's staff and pilot of the fast ship on its maiden flight to Dallas.

Others present included Mrs. William T. Hester, prominent Atlanta woman; Postmaster Lon Livingston; Oscar Bergstrom, city traffic manager for the air lines; Dan H. Lockett, divisional air mail inspector; W. W. Owens, vice president of the Railway Express Agency; Collins Byrd, secretary of the Georgia Hotel Association.

The big ship roared off into the night skies toward the west at 2:05 o'clock this morning and was quickly lost from view. En route it will pass a similar plane headed for Atlanta from Dallas. "The Texas" will arrive in Atlanta at 6 o'clock this morning. It was christened in ceremonies at Dallas by Mrs. James V. Allred, wife of the Governor of Texas.

Atlantans in Dallas will have an opportunity to read the final edition of today's Constitution today at the same time it is being read here. The swift new ship carried 150 copies of "The South Standard" on its maiden voyage.

Banks May Deposit Bonds. This means that national banks may deposit them with the treasury, add 5 per cent in lawful money as a redemption fund, and issue bank notes to the extent of the face value of the bonds.

Aside from the canal loan bonds connected with the transaction which began today, other government securities to the extent of $300,000,000 bear the "circulating privilege." Their life will end a moment hence, and consequently national bank notes will disappear completely.

Their elimination was part of a move to simplify the nation's monetary system, and will leave to all intents and purposes but two kinds of paper money in circulation—federal reserve notes and silver certificates issued by the treasury. There is in addition a small amount outstanding in federal reserve bank notes.

The transfer of gold profits to the working cash balance with which the treasury meets current expenses was the first such transaction since the dollar's gold content was slashed, giving the government a profit of more than $2,000,000,000 on its vast holdings of the yellow metal. Of that, $2,000,000,000 was set aside for the use of the stabilization fund.

Gold Certificates Issued. Coincident with the transfer, a deposit of $100,000,000 in gold certificates issued against the gold profits was made at the federal reserve banks. This will be used to reimburse the nation.

CHAMPAGNE USED TO NAME AIRPLANE

First Atlanta-to-Dallas Night Mail Takes Off After Christening.

"I christen you 'The Georgian,'" and with these words spoken by Mrs. Eugene Talmadge at Candler field at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the state's first lady broke a ribbon-decked bottle of Veuve Cliquot P. 1926 champagne against the glistening side of the new low-winged Stinson 10-passenger monoplane which will be the first ship to take the night mail out of Atlanta for Dallas, Texas, over Delta Air Lines.

A group of noted Atlantans and Georgians attended the ceremony which marked the first time champagne has been used in a Georgia christening in many years. The sparkling beverage was nine years old.

Final Roll Call Vote on Measure Scheduled Today

DICKINSON SLAIN DURING HOLD-UP, FERRIS CONFESSES

Robbery Netted $150, Police Told; Three Girls Implicated in Plot To "Roll" Attorney.

FERRIS AND WOMAN HERE 2 WEEKS AGO

William Ferris and Flossie Jackson, one of three women implicated with Ferris in the Dickinson murder case in Detroit, had been living in Atlanta up to June 21 and on that day attempted to obtain an automobile here on "trial." Chief of Police T. O. Sturdivant yesterday wired the Detroit police.

The pair were identified from photographs as the couple who attempted to get an automobile from L. L. Brooks, automobile salesman, of 375 Peachtree street, Brooks said Chief Sturdivant had given him the name of E. E. Johnson, to an address on Currier street where he found the Jackson woman, who was introduced as "Mrs. Johnson," packed up and ready to leave.

DETROIT, July 1.—(AP)—William Lee Ferris confessed late today. Prosecutor Duncan C. McCrea said, that he killed Howard Carter Dickinson, New York attorney, during a robbery which netted about $150.

Ferris' confession came quickly after Jean Miller, one of three "party girls" who went on the fatal ride with the two men, had told the prosecutor that Ferris killed Dickinson.

The woman told McCrea that she, Ferris, and the other girls, Loretta and Florence Jackson, were "in that business—picking up men we thought had money, getting them drunk and then rolling them."

"He wouldn't put his hands up, and I let him have it," Prosecutor McCrea quoted Ferris as confessing. "We got about $150."

"We thought he had a lot of money, so we agreed to get him drunk and roll him. But he wouldn't get drunk, so we took him to the park and the girls got out and I told him to 'put 'em up,' but he didn't, so I shot him."

Dickinson's body was found beside the roadway to the park last Thursday morning.

Ferris and the three girls were arrested in Fort Wayne, Ind., Saturday.

Earlier Statements Confirmed. Earlier statements they had given the prosecutor and Detroit detectives were conflicting, but the renewed questioning of the Miller woman brought the case to a quick denouement.

Her statement this afternoon, which paved the way for Ferris' confession, as reported by McCrea, coincided with Ferris' admission of the shooting.

She said the other women left the automobile at the park and heard shots while they were out.

"Then Ferris pulled the body out, after taking off the coat and vest," Continued in Page 12, Column 2.

Administration's Cherished Objective Smashed by 216 to 146; Conference With Senate in Prospect After Bill's Passage.

WHEELER PROMISES FIGHT FOR F. D. R.

Rankin Trying To Whip Members Into Line But Little Chance Is Seen for Great Change.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—(AP)—A stunning defeat by his big house democratic majority today spurred President Roosevelt to renewed efforts to write a legislative "death sentence" for unnecessary utility holding companies.

Immediately after the 216-to-146 house vote smashing down this cherished New Deal objective, Mr. Roosevelt conferred with Representative Rankin, democrat, Mississippian, who then rushed back to the capitol to try to rebuild the party's lines which crumbled today.

Outwardly, Mr. Roosevelt's only comfort through a secretary, was an expression of hope the "death sentence" bill would win on a final vote tomorrow. At that time a motion will be made to substitute the senate abolition bill for the house regulatory plan and a roll call will be taken as was not the case today.

Little Chance Liked. But despite Rankin's "confidence" of ultimate victory and intimations that Mr. Roosevelt will issue a statement seeking to rally his shattered forces, leaders looked for little change in the lineup. They estimated that "putting on the heat" for three weeks added barely a handful of democratic votes to the 127 originally polled as favoring the "death sentence."

The 216-to-146 division today was in a chamber where republicans are outnumbered more than three to one. It was taken in an atmosphere made electric by an intense cloakroom campaign, exceptional bitterness in debate, charges of lobbying hurled against both the White House and utility interests, and open warnings that democrats crossing President Roosevelt's wishes would be called to account at the polls.

The fight was not over for either winners or losers. The utility bill, after a final ballot probably tomorrow, must go to conference with the senate. The issue there will be whether the senate and Roosevelt-approved provisions to abolish all "unnecessary" holding companies by 1942 should stand—it was this provision the house defeated today—or whether the house language leaving abolition discretionary with the Securities Commission should prevail.

Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, who will head the senate conferees, said after the house vote that the measure would be brought into line with Mr. Roosevelt's wishes or "deadlocked." The White House had no immediate comment.

The stunning measure of Mr. Roosevelt's house defeat ranked it with the

ATLANTA TRADE GAINS WITH LATIN AMERICA

Scores of Shipments of Varied Goods Going by Air to South America.

Atlanta is developing an extensive trade with the ports of Latin America, it became known Monday through advice from Miami, which said that scores of shipments of a wide variety of goods were now passing through the airport there, en route from Atlanta manufacturers and distributors and billed to various points in South America.

Verification of the Miami advice, which came from the International Trading Service of that city was found in reports by Irving Schewe, president of the Atlanta Foreign Trade Club, William H. Schroder, of the Bureau of Domestic and Foreign Commerce of the United States Department of Commerce, George Mansour, with Armand May, exporter, and others.

Among goods sent from Atlanta are automobile parts, dry goods, hosiery, electrical supplies, radio equipment, marine supplies, sports goods, candy, et cetera.

The shipments are made from here over Eastern Air Lines to Miami where they are transhipped to Pan-American planes. Goods leaving Atlanta by plane any business day reach Miami the same night and leave by the Pan-American plane the following morning. Atlanta, it is pointed out, enjoys a service of only a few

BANKHEAD BLASTS RETIREMENT STORY

Alabama Congressman Will be Candidate for Re-Election.

JASPER, Ala., July 1.—(AP)—Congressman W. B. Bankhead, majority leader in the house, today blasted rumors that he would retire on expiration of his term with an announcement that he would be a candidate for renomination—tantamount to election—in the democratic primaries in 1936.

Congressman Bankhead, recuperating at his home here from a prolonged illness said he was completely recovered and would be a candidate for renomination.

Since his election as majority leader, Congressman Bankhead due to illness, has not been able to take up his duties on the floor of the house in Washington, leading to many rumors that he would retire on expiration of his term.

These rumors have caused many to sound out sentiment in the seventh Alabama district with a view to snatching for his post. Names coupled with the office include L. T. Quinn, state commissioner of game and fisheries; Travis Williams, of Russellville, a former state senator, and several others.

hours with Havana or Nassau and is within one business day of Mexico, Jamaica, Haiti and ports on the Pan-American lines between South America at its nearest point, Colombia, is only a day and a half away by air.

Several tons of goods are now leaving Miami every month by air for Latin America and a considerable portion is sent from Atlanta.

COMPROMISE MEASURE ON BANKING OFFERED

Glass Subcommittee Completes Draft of Plans To Redesign Reserve Board.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—(AP)—A compromise administration banking bill to redesign the Federal Reserve Board along the lines of the supreme court, and give it a modified form of control over the nation's credit was reported today by the Glass subcommittee.

Representing modification of the house-approved bill in its credit control and other features, the measure was described by Chairman Fletcher, democrat, Florida, of the whole committee as a "fairly good compromise." "It is better than I expected," the veteran Florida commented after the committee had partially gone over the draft. He said the bill, under scrutiny by the subcommittee for ten weeks, might be reported to the senate tomorrow. Aside from the tax bill it is the last of the major administration measures slated for action this session.

Details of Measure. Composed of three titles, the second—the heart of the bill—creates a bipartisan federal reserve board of seven. All would be appointed by the President for 14-year terms and all would stand on an equal footing with titles of "governor."

Within 90 days after enactment of the bill the secretary of the treasury and comptroller of the currency would be removed as ex-officio members—a move its backers said was designed to eliminate possible political pressure on the board. The house bill retained the existing setup of six appointive members and the two ex-officio.

Instead of a governor and vice governor, the board would have a chairman and vice chairman to be selected by the President from among the seven members for four-year terms. Members of the board could not be reappointed.

The reserve system open market committee—which would control the flow of credit through policies relating to the buying and selling of government securities, rediscount rates and reserve requirements against deposits—would be composed of the seven-member board and five representatives of the 12 reserve banks, the latter to be selected annually by a majority vote of the heads of the 12 banks.

More autonomy for the 12 regional banks than provided in the house bill would be retained under the subcommittee draft. Although the reserve board would have majority control in initiating open market policies, a reserve bank could refrain from following the course determined upon. The house bill made it mandatory and only provided for an "advisory" committee of five reserve bank heads.

Rediscount Rates Unaltered.

Further reducing the board's power as defined in the house bill, the new draft would not alter existing law relating to rediscount rates. A reserve bank could change its own rate if the reserve board approved, but the board itself could not initiate a change. The house bill gave the board full authority to fix rediscount rates.

The bill also removes the power of the open market committee to propose by the house, to define "sound assets" and make them eligible for rediscount. It would permit, however, the banks to make "advances" to member banks if secured by notes or other obligations of a character approved by the board.

To prevent "injurious credit expansion or contraction" in another manner, the bill would permit the new seven-member board, on a vote of not less than five, to raise reserve requirements against deposits to a maximum that would double existing requirements.

Under a slight modification of existing law prohibiting banks of deposit from engaging in the security business, the bill would permit national banks to underwrite security issues up to 20 per cent of any one issue, or not more than $100,000, whichever is the greater.

INSURANCE MAN FOUND SHOT DEAD IN GARAGE

With a 38-caliber bullet in the head and a new 38-caliber pistol found clutched in his left hand, the body of W. D. Kuykendall, an insurance adjuster for the Aetna Casualty & Surety Company, was found dead in the garage in the rear of his home at 301 North Morningstar drive yesterday morning. The body was taken to the chapel of Harry G. Poole and Coroner Paul Donohoe pronounced death due to suicide.

Kuykendall's body was discovered by H. A. Tripp, with whom the insurance man had been living. He had been shot through the mouth and had been dead for several hours, according to police.

PROF. S. F. HARRIS, 60, NEGRO EDUCATOR, DIES

Professor S. F. Harris, of Athens, Ga., one of the leading negro educators of the south, died yesterday morning at the home of his daughter, in Atlanta. He was 60 years old at the time of his death and had for the last 35 years been connected with the public school system of Athens, serving as principal of the city high school for negroes and supervisor of colored schools.

The greatest contribution made by Harris to his people was probably the organization of the state summer school for colored teachers, which was run on a co-operative basis. Professors of the University of Georgia acted as instructors in the school.

Funeral services will be held at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning at the First A. M. E. church, in Athens, with Bishop W. A. Fountain officiating.

BURGLARS LOOT HOME OF HUGH P. NUNALLY

Burglars who entered the home of Hugh P. Nunally, vice president of the Nunally and McCrea Company, during the absence of the family at Sea Island Beach, stole clothing and household articles valued at $1,386, it was reported yesterday by Fulton county police.

The robbers are believed to have entered the residence from the second story. Mr. Nunally discovered the looting when he returned home.

SOVIET WOMAN CLAIMS CHUTE JUMPING RECORD

REAL ESTATE TRADE IN MARKED PICKUP

Chicagoan Asserts Dealings Once More Assuming Important Proportions.

CHICAGO, July 1.—(AP)—Real estate dealings in Chicago, described today by Hugh Croxton, chairman of the Brokers' Division of the Real Estate Board, as having been "more calm than the delirium for four years" are once more assuming important proportions.

"Business for the real estate man has started coming through the office door once more," Croxton said, "and while there isn't a boom, it's so much better than it was we're beginning to feel human."

The best index to conditions, he said, was that insurance companies, estate trustees and similar financial sources are again making loans in what he described as "reasonable amounts" on real estate. The most recent return to this field was the Bankers' Life Company, Des Moines, Iowa, insurance firm, after four years of absence.

VINSON PLANS PLEA FOR SCHOOL FUNDS

New Appeal To Harry Hopkins Will Be Made Soon.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—(AP)—Hope that Georgia school teachers might receive additional relief funds was revived today in a statement of Representative Vinson, democrat, Georgia, that the matter will be presented again to Harry L. Hopkins, relief and works progress administrator.

Vinson said he was "hopeful" Hopkins would reconsider his action rejecting the request that the relief granted the rural teachers last April 19 might be made retroactive to February to cover unpaid salaries.

The Georgian was understood to have conferred with Hopkins in the matter. He has requested the Georgia Department of Education for additional information on the financial condition of each county where teachers have asked additional relief.

Woman, 100 Years Old, Outlives Good Coat

HOLDREGE, Neb., July 1.—(AP)—Forty years ago Miss Anna Liebenstren bought a new coat. She insisted on a good one because she wanted it to last until she was 100 years old.

Today Miss Anna celebrated her 100th birthday. The coat is still in good condition. But Anna, too, is just as strong and active as ever. She may outlast another coat, she said.

The secret of her longevity, she told friends, lies in the fact that she never did any hard work.

AGNES SCOTT DRIVE ENDS SUCCESSFULLY

$233,000 Raised Will Mean Total Fund of $450,000 for College.

Agnes Scott's campaign to raise $233,000 in order to receive an additional $217,000 from the General Education Board, of New York, was successfully completed, President J. R. McCain announced yesterday. A report already has been mailed to the education board, he said.

Friends of the college underwrote $5,000, the amount needed yesterday morning to complete the campaign. Dr. McCain stated, "Approximately $200,000 will be spent for a new library building, which probably will be begun by September 1, he said. The library will be built between the gymnasium and Buttrick hall.

Twenty-five thousand dollars will be spent on a new student activities building, and the same amount for general campus improvements. The remainder of the $450,000 total fund will be used for endowments and scholarships.

The General Education Board is one division of the Rockefeller enterprises, which makes donations to institutions of learning. The amount donated depends on the board's evaluation of the educational project. In three campaigns during the depression years Agnes Scott amassed a total of approximately $1,600,000, it was revealed in the office of the business manager.

First Pine Mountain Homes Ready For Occupancy on Fourth of July Celebration, Open to Public, To Signalize Completion of Six Homes Under Community Rehabilitation Plan Launched by FERA.

Marking a new chapter in Georgia's agricultural history, the first houses built as part of the Pine Mountain Valley rural community development will be occupied by their owners on Thursday, which is, fittingly enough, Independence Day.

The Pine Mountain project contains 11,000 acres, located six miles from Hamilton, Ga., and when completed will house 50 families. Homes are to be built for each of the families.

Six houses have been completed and these will be occupied for the first time Thursday by the settlers and their families, according to Miss Gay B. Shepperson, FERA administrator in Georgia. Another 51 homes are in process of construction and as they are completed others will be started.

Reuniting Families. The family heads who will be settled on the Pine Mountain project have been working in the valley for some months, building houses and preparing the soil for cultivation.

The houses have been housed in barracks until the present, but as the new homes are completed their families will be brought to the valley and they will move into the dwellings, Miss Shepperson asserted.

In celebration of the completion of the new homes, a barbecue and entertainment is to be held at Pine Mountain Valley on Thursday, July 4, and makes donations to institutions of learning. The amount donated depends on the board's evaluation of the educational project. In three campaigns during the depression years Agnes Scott amassed a total of approximately $1,600,000, it was revealed in the office of the business manager.

VIRGINIA 'SHINER' ON TRIAL IN SLAYING

Man Pleads Not Guilty in Death of Alexandria Policeman.

LEESBURG, Va., July 1.—(AP)—Tom Quisenberry, moonshiner, charged with the slaying of Clarence J. McClary, Alexandria policeman, pleaded not guilty this morning as he went on trial here after the court had overruled a defense 10-point plea in abatement and had refused to quash the indictment and the venire from which the jury panel was called.

Selection of a jury started just before noon and the court ordered a second panel summoned after the first had been exhausted.

Quisenberry, pale with a prison pallor, was neatly dressed and well-shaven. The court held that the errors alleged by the defense in the indictment and in drawing a jury were immaterial and infringed on no rights of the accused. The defense motions were overruled without argument by the prosecution.

WATER HIKE SOUGHT

Decatur Meeting Tonight on Proposed Higher Rates.

Mass meeting to decide whether water rates will be raised in Decatur will be held at 8 o'clock tonight at the DeKalb county courthouse.

A citizens' committee, headed by Andrew Robertson, chairman, will make its report. It will propose that the water rate be hiked from a minimum of $1.25 to $1.50 per month in order to raise an additional $12,500 annually. This money would be used to build a million-gallon water reservoir and to erect eight new classrooms for the schools. The sum would be matched by the FERA with building materials and labor. In case the water rate is raised, it would be only for a period of two or possibly three years, it was said. Even though the minimum charge was increased, consumers would still be allowed a 20 per cent discount for paying the bills before the tenth of the month. Frank Thomas will preside at the meeting tonight.

MAN RESISTS ARREST, IS SHOT BY POLICE

George Taylor, negro, of 171 Martin street, was seriously wounded in the abdomen by a police officer late Sunday night when he attempted to resist arrest after he was alleged by police to have broken into a five and ten cent store at Frasier street and Georgia avenue.

According to police, the negro hurled a rock through the plate glass window of the store and then hid himself in an alley to ascertain if the window breaking had been heard. An unidentified person reported the window smashing to police and radio squad car No. 15 sped to the scene. An unidentified negro woman told officers that she had seen the window smasher run into a blind alley. Patrolman L. H. Evans called to the negro to come out of the alley, and according to police, the man, carrying a brick in his hand, attempted to break through the two officers at the entrance to the alley. Evans shot the negro in the abdomen, the bullet passing through the body, police said.

At Grady hospital yesterday Taylor's condition was said to be serious.

JUDGE SLOW OF FOOT, NEGRO BOY GETS AWAY

James Davis, 16-year-old negro fugitive from the reform school, proved himself a better sprinter yesterday than Judge Jesse M. Wood, of Fulton criminal court, and as a result the youth is now being sought on two counts.

Davis, according to juvenile court authorities, is a fugitive from the reform school. He had been arrested recently and placed on probation in another case in Fulton superior court. When juvenile authorities learned the judge was reporting to the probation officer that he was being held. The youth made the break for liberty when told he was wanted for return to the reform school. Judge Wood was passing the probation officer's office at the time the negro ran through the door and took up the chase in vain.

FARMER IS JAILED ON MURDER CHARGE

SUMTER, S. C., July 1.—(AP)—Hutson Nesbit, 23-year-old farmer, was in jail here today charged with slaying his father, Hampton S. Nesbit, 60, after a two-year estrangement, and police said he had confessed.

Young Nesbit was arrested after the body of his father was found near an old sawdust pile with two gunshot wounds in the back. Policeman L. C. Tisdale quoted him as saying he mailed his father a request for a meeting at the sawdust pile, and then shot him with a single-barreled shotgun as he arrived. The police version of the confession quoted Hutson as saying he then reloaded the gun and shot his father in the back after the elder man dropped to his knees from the effect of the first charge.

Officers said the two had not been on speaking terms for two years.

STATE AND CITY SHOW INCREASES IN REVENUE

Collections for First Half Year Substantially Higher Than in 1934.

State and city collections yesterday showed marked increase for 1935 over the first half of 1934.

While state collections were about $1,200,000 in excess of 1934 the city piled up a lead of about $800,000. City receipts for the first six months of 1935 were $2,423,888.20, while they totaled only $1,602,137.72 for the same period ending July 1, 1934.

June, 1935, collections for the city, however, were only $33,133.21 as compared to $171,490.60 for June, 1934. State Auditor Tom Wisdom reported that collections by the state from January 1 to July 1 were $14,128,803.61. Those of the first six months of 1934 were $12,919,384.28, and of the same period in 1933, $11,362,240.60.

Increased collections were noted in a majority of the divisions, including the following: Fuel oil taxes, which amounted to $7,414,351; motor vehicle license fees, $1,119,619; state income taxes, $1,450,000 (estimated); cigar and cigarette tax collections, $497,000; insurance premium tax, $676,000, and fees collected by the Department of Agriculture, $210,000.

Slight decreases were shown in general property tax collections, which dropped to $1,020,918; occupation and franchise taxes, which totaled $751,102 and poll taxes, which slumped from $117,000 in 1934 to $81,000 this year.

The loss of revenue from poll taxes was attributed to the fact that no state primary or general election has been held in the state this year. The general fund for operation of the state government received $4,747,748.90 of the collections, and allocated funds for highway work and other purposes, $3,381,054.72. Collections from other sources were as follows: Motor carrier fees, $47,000; W. & A. railroad rentals, $315,000; inheritance taxes, $55,780; insurance fees, $67,600; public utility prop-

Tech Students Direct R. O. T. C. Camp Activity

Three Georgia Tech students are commanders, and one other a range officer, at the R. O. T. C. camp at Fort Barrancas, Fla., according to a report from the camp yesterday.

G. A. Smith, of Atlanta, is commander of the three-inch anti-aircraft gun target practices; H. H. Johnson, of Macon, is commander of battery A; J. M. Markley, of Coral Gables, Fla., is range officer for battery A; and F. J. Wisser, of Gretna, La., is commander of battery B and range officer for the same unit.

Smith has conducted an interesting critique of the results obtained from the anti-aircraft gun target practices, according to the report.

Army tax, $15,419; professional taxes, $17,463, and miscellaneous taxes, $277,682.

PARIS INSTALLED AS ROTARY CHIEF

Annual Banquet of Civic Club Attended by Prominent Visitors.

Installation of Ralph Paris as president of the Atlanta Rotary Club featured the annual banquet of the group last night at the Capital City Country Club. He succeeded Joel C. Harris Jr. as Rotary chief.

Prominent Rotarians from all parts of the state attended the banquet. Among them were Fred Noble, president, and Harold Clotfelter, vice president, of the Rome club; William Crossfield, Griffin club president; Milton McLain and Robert Wade, president and president-elect, respectively, of the Marietta club; Albert Lehmann, president-elect of LaGrange Rotary; Claude Chance and Thomas Greene, president and president-elect, respectively, of the Athens club; Harold Gulliver, Valdosta Rotary head; Theodore Molner and John Gunn, president and president-elect of the Cuthbert Rotarians, and Bunyan Stephens, district governor-elect of the sixty-ninth district of Rotary. The Rotarians and their guests enjoyed golf, tennis and putting contests yesterday afternoon at Brookhaven and then adjourned to the Capital City clubhouse for dinner.

REGENTS TO GET FUND FOR BUILDINGS SOON

Governor Announces One-Third of 1935 Appropriation Ready for Use.

The million-dollar building program in the University System of Georgia may be started this month by the board of regents.

This probability followed announcement by Governor Talmadge yesterday that the state was ready to turn $333,333.33 over to the regents as the 1935 installment on the $1,000,000 appropriated by the last legislature for new construction.

The appropriation was made after the general assembly blocked a proposed $2,691,000 PWA loan to the regents.

Steps to launch the program must await the return here of Dr. S. V. Sanford, new chancellor of the University System, and Marion Smith, chairman of the regents, who have been away for several days, it was announced at the regents' office.

The next meeting of the board is tentatively set for July 15, when it is expected building plans will be taken up.

Several changes occurred on the board today at the same time that Dr. Sanford officially became chancellor, succeeding Philip Weltner, retired, who is now employed by the federal government.

Four regents, three of them new board members, began six-year terms by appointments from Talmadge. John Monaghan, of Polkham, succeeded W. J. Veren, of Moultrie; Miller S. Bell, of Milledgeville, succeeded W. Elliott Dunwoody Jr., of Macon; C. M. Milan, of Cartersville, replaced E. S. Ault, of Cedartown, and Cason J. Callaway, of LaGrange, succeeded to his second term.

N.Y. CENTRAL NOTES EXTENDED BY R. F. C.

Program for Reorganization of Carrier To Be Studied at Parley Today.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—(AP)—The Reconstruction Finance Corporation has extended until October 1, $15,800,000 in notes, due shortly, which it holds of the New York Central railroad, in an effort to permit railroad officials and bankers to work out a plan for refunding its heavy bank debt.

The Central owes the Reconstruction Corporation $27,500,000, of which $15,800,000 falls due between July 1 and August 1. It owes New York bankers $63,500,000.

The RFC chairman will confer tomorrow with representatives of the Denver & Rio Grande Western railroad and representatives of bondholders who have been endeavoring to agree on a program for reorganizing that carrier. A plan has been submitted to the RFC but Jones declined to discuss it until he can talk to the representatives of both sides.

COURT PROCEDURE CHANGE PREDICTED

Judge Hugh Dorsey Charges New Grand Jury for Fulton Superior Court.

Change in the system of bringing defendants to trial in Fulton superior court was predicted yesterday by Judge Hugh M. Dorsey in his charge to the July-August term of the grand jury.

Adoption of the system now in effect in the Fulton criminal court, where defendants are haled to court on accusations, was forecast for the superior court. The judge pointed out it would eliminate much of the work now done by grand juries if accusations were issued by the solicitor-general's office.

The grand jury was selected yesterday morning and George W. McCarty, vice president of the Ashcraft-Wilkinson Company, was named foreman. R. I. Barge, Allene avenue merchant, was elected secretary.

Judge Dorsey, in charging the jury with the duties it is required to perform, said the July-August jury is not obligated to investigate county affairs, as are spring and fall term juries, unless irregularities are suspected.

Saturday's shopping can use more gasoline

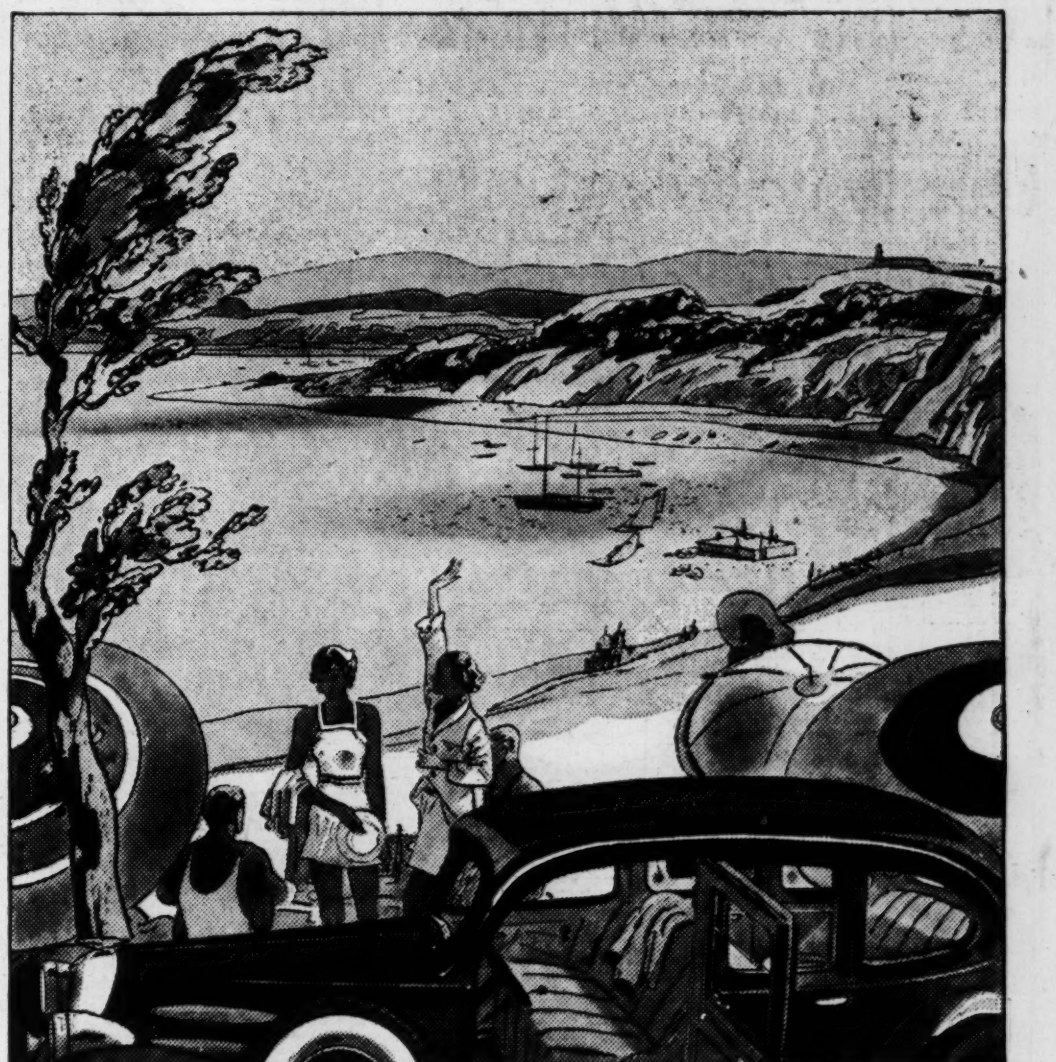

4 out of every 5 miles you drive are stop-and-go

Today's starting, shifting and accelerating waste your money —unless your gasoline has these Three Kinds of Power...

TO THE butcher... the grocer... the dry goods store... the bank... the druggist's! Count up and you'll find that you often make 10 stops a day.

Then, remember that a short run from a "cold" start can use up to a "mile" of gasoline. Also, remember that rapid accelerating as you shift gears can use 33% more gasoline than steady running. To cut down this waste, you need a gasoline with 3 different kinds of power... power for quick STARTING... power for hard

THAN SUNDAY'S LONG TRIP TO THE COUNTRY —

PULLING... power for steady RUNNING. What's more, you need these 3 kinds of power in exactly the right proportion... in perfect BALANCE!

Super-Shell is the FIRST truly balanced gasoline. And so it saves you money in three important ways:

STARTING—With its even volatility, Super-Shell can save up to a cupful of gasoline on a "cold" start—even in summer, your engine is "cold" when idle.

SHIFTING—Super-Shell can save up to a cupful in 10 minutes of hard pulling, or rapid accelerating, or hill climbing.

RUNNING—With its abundant heat units, Super-Shell can save up to a cupful of gasoline in every hour of steady running, many motorists report.

This gasoline has met such great popularity that today there are over 30,000 stations to serve you from Coast to Coast. Stop at one of these stations, and start saving TODAY! See why thousands are becoming Shell "regulars."

SUSPECT IS HUNTED IN MARYLAND SLAYING

CHESTERTOWN, Md., July 1.—(AP)—Sheriff John N. Bennett, of Kent county, today named John Ellis, 28, of Chester, Pa., as one of the two men being hunted in connection with the fatal stabbing of Kelly C. Terry, 25, Saturday night during a dance in a tavern.

The identity of the person believed by authorities to have plunged a knife into Terry's heart remained undisclosed today, although William Pruitt, 25, was held in the county jail here for the October term of criminal court.

AUTO ACCIDENTS KILL 15,200 IN SIX MONTHS

Nationwide Survey Estimates
Number Hurt in Crashes
at 300,000.

HARTFORD, Conn., July 1.—(AP)—A toll of 15,200 dead and 300,000 hurt in automobile crashes in the United States during the first six months of 1935 was reported by the Travelers Insurance Company in a nationwide survey.

The number of deaths is about two per cent less than for the first six months last year, the report shows. Complete revised figures have not been received from all states.

Deaths from automobile accidents have been 34 per cent greater in the last half of the year than in the first, during the last four years. The company estimates that should this hold true this year the total number of casualties would reach 35,000.

"Such records as are available for the first half of the year," the report said, "show an increase of almost 13 per cent in the number of drivers under the influence of liquor who were involved in accidents, and also an increase of 10 per cent in the number

30 MINERS KILLED IN CALCUTTA BLAST

60 Persons Injured in Bagdigi Colliery in Bihar Province.

CALCUTTA, India, July 1.—(AP)—Thirty miners died and 60 were injured today in two consecutive explosions in the Bagdigi colliery in Bihar province.

Six of the miners were killed instantly by a first explosion underground, 10 were burned fatally when caught by roaring flames as they fled to the surface, and a second explosion followed by fire caused the additional casualties. All the victims were Indians.

of pedestrians under the same influence, also in accidents.

Eight thousand of those killed were pedestrians, slightly more than in the first half of 1934. Nearly 3,100 persons were killed in automobile collisions.

Almost 500 persons lost their lives in the collision of automobiles and trains. The percentage of such deaths is appreciably in excess of the first half of 1934, the report said.

More than 1,500 were killed in the collision of automobiles with fixed objects and nearly 1,500 also met death in non-collision accidents. Both totals are less than during the corresponding period last year.

PRESIDENT VEToes TAYLOR HEIRS' CLAIM

Case Involved Certain Lands Held by Government.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today vetoed a bill which would have had the court of claims decide a claim for $389,706 brought by the heirs of the late James Taylor, Cherokee Indian of Cherokee county, North Carolina.

The claim involved certain lands now held by the government, representing the alleged difference in value between lands Taylor gave the government in North Carolina in exchange for lands in Oklahoma, and accumulated interest.

Representative Bill Rogers, democrat, Oklahoma, who introduced the bill on behalf of Taylor's heirs now in Oklahoma, said the measure had been approved by the land section of the agriculture department.

Mr. Roosevelt objected to a provision which would authorize the court to allow attorneys' fees in addition to the award on the claim.

"Such action is without precedent," he said, in a message to congress, "and if permitted to stand, the United States would be placed in the position of paying the fees for attorneys representing both the plaintiff and the defendant."

LILA LEE DIVORCES BROKER HUSBAND

Motion Picture Actress Charged Extreme Cruelty.

CARSON CITY, Nev., July 1.—(AP)—Augusta Lila Lee Peine, actress known to the motion picture world as Lila Lee, won a divorce here today. She charged extreme cruelty.

The trial was held behind closed doors before District Judge Clark J. Guild, papers in the case were ordered sealed. Judge Guild permitted her to resume use of her former name, Lila Lee.

There was no property involved in the case as far as the divorce decree indicated.

The couple was married December 5, 1934, in Harrison, N. Y.

ALLEGED COMMUNIST BEATEN IN ALABAMA

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 1.—(AP)—Robert Woods, described by police as a communist leader in this section, reported to officers today that he was badly beaten by four men who attempted to abduct him.

According to Woods, the four men who drove up before his home and called him to the porch and dragged him toward their automobile by his feet. Screams, Wood said, drew neighbors and the men left.

Woods and a woman booked as Beth Mitchell were arrested yesterday on charge of violating the city ordinance prohibiting dissemination of radical literature.

TENNESSEE CALLS NEGROES ON JURY

Names Were Placed in Box in 1933, Says Official.

KNOXVILLE, July 1.—(AP)—Negroes were chosen today to serve on the Knox county grand and trial juries, but Attorney-General J. Fred Bibb said it was not done because of the recent ruling of the United States supreme court in the Scottsboro, Ala., case.

"Their names," he said, were drawn from a list prepared and placed in the jury box two years ago.

"The Knox county jury commission," he explained, "always has placed the names of negroes in a box from which juries are selected. This meets the provisions of the constitution."

Bibb said a negro served on a Knox county grand jury also five years ago "without objection from white members of the jury."

W. P. Chandler, chairman of the Knox county jury commission, said the names of the negroes selected today were placed in the jury box in September, 1933.

There is nothing on the list, he said, to designate whether the prospective jurors are white men or negroes.

Twelve grand jurors were chosen today, two of them, David H. Kemp and James Price are negroes. Sam H. Toole, negro, was selected as one of the 32 trial jurors.

HAROLD LLOYD FIGHTS BLACK WIDOW SPIDER

HOLLYWOOD, July 1.—(AP)—Harold Lloyd, respected movie comedian, said today he had taken a turn toward things scientific and was seeking a bacteria to combat the poisonous black widow spider.

Lloyd reported he had been studying the spider and working to develop a culture of bacteria he believes will destroy it.

A home laboratory, which his vast fortune has permitted him to equip with the finest instruments, has been the scene of his research, he said.

$60,000,000 IS SOUGHT FOR NEW PARK LANDS

Parsons in Nantahala, Cherokee Sections.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—(AP)—Congressmen anxious to revive what they fear is a declining interest by the administration in national forest development, will seek this week to have $60,000,000 works money allotted for new park lands.

Led by Representative Parsons, democrat, Illinois, a self-appointed steering committee will meet in a day or two to devise ways and means of convincing the Forestry Commission several scores of parcels should be bought and added to the national forest.

Once, the commission asked $5,000,000 for all types of work in national forests. This sum was trimmed to $13,000,000 by the allotment board which it was believed decided the purchases could not be brought within the $1,100 per man cost limit placed on works relief projects.

Parsons said, only $3,000,000 would go toward purchases of new forest units.

The purchases, in Parsons' plan, would be used for recreational centers. The forests where purchases are to be sought, the cost and acreage include:

WOMAN FREED ON BOND IN 5 TYPHOID DEATHS

MUNCY, Pa., July 1.—(AP)—A woman suspected of spreading typhoid germs that killed five guests at a rural birthday party and made 11 more ill was freed on bail to await hearing on charges of violating state health regulations.

The typhoid trail led to Mrs. Fuller App, of Muncy, D. H. Quigley, inspector for the State Health Department, said yesterday in announcing her arrest.

The woman is alleged to have prepared and served a pudding and a salad to 70 guests at a birthday party held by Mr. and Mrs. John Reese in honor of Mrs. Reese's mother, on March 23.

Two weeks later, typhoid broke out among those who were guests at the party. Before long, 16 were ill. Five died.

EIGHT LONGSHOREMEN WOUNDED IN LOUISIANA

LAKE CHARLES, La., July 1.—(AP)—Eight longshoremen were wounded on the docks here early today in a clash of some 600 white and negro workers in a battle between two opposing longshoremen's unions over the right to load the British steamship, Queen City.

The two forces, about 300 to the side, fought with shotguns, pistols and their fists. After the first skirmish each retreated and held their lines while a call went out to Governor O. K. Allen for troops.

Adjutant General Raymond Fleuning was sent to Lake Charles to investigate.

The two unions, the International Longshoremen's Association, each claimed they held contract to load the ship. Arbitrators gained a truce during the night and they believed trouble would be averted. But at dawn shooting suddenly broke out, with each side claiming the other fired the first shot.

STREAMLINED TRAIN IN REGULAR SERVICE

JACKSON, Tenn., July 1.—(AP)—The south's first streamlined train, "The Rebel," of the Gulf, Mobile & Northern Railroad, is scheduled to go into regular service Wednesday, operating between Jackson, Miss., and New Orleans.

I. B. Garrett, president of the road, said this curtailed schedule would remain in force until the arrival of a companion train sometime this month. As tentatively planned the full schedule calls for operation of the trains between Jackson, Tenn., and New Orleans.

"The Rebel" has made exhibition runs since it arrived in the south early last week.

2 ALABAMANS FOUND DEAD ON RAIL TRACKS

JASPER, Ala., July 1.—(AP)—The bodies of two Walker county farmers, badly mangled, were found on a railroad track near Nauvoo early today by a passerby.

A coroner's jury was empaneled immediately to investigate the deaths of the two identified as George Stockman, 41, and Tommie Jackson, 28.

Officers said the men had been dead several hours when found and hinted that they were suspicious of foul play.

The bodies were found between the rails of the track a short distance south of the Nauvoo station. The railroad here is straight for some distance, giving rise to officers' suspicions that the men may have been killed and their bodies placed on the rails.

Coroner Joe Legg is continuing the investigation.

NEW SEARCH LAUNCHED FOR MISSING ALPINIST

GLACIER PARK, Mont., July 1.—(AP)—A new search for the long missing Dr. Frederick E. Lumley, 26-year-old faculty member of Ohio State University, began in the snow-packed Rocky mountains near the Canadian border today.

A $500 reward posted last fall by the father of the young man, an experienced alpinist, apparently was the incentive for the new search. Dr. Lumley disappeared last August 13 while on a 17-mile hike over a well-defined trail between Goathead to Crossley lake camps.

Six men were participating in the hunt.

U. S. ROAD FUND PLAN ASSAILED IN WEBSTER

Widely Indorsed Resolution Says Washington Invasing States' Rights.

PRESTON, Ga., July 1.—(P)—Cleveland Rees, secretary, said today the Webster County Taxpayers' League had adopted a resolution condemning what it termed a threatened "invasion of the rights and sovereignty of the state of Georgia" in the handling of the controversial $10,000,000 highway works fund for this state.

The resolution was indorsed by county and town officials, including C. M. Jones, commissioner; W. M. Smith, representative; Willard Rees, mayor of Preston, and Thomas McGarr, mayor of Weston.

Rees made public a copy of the resolution which said that it appeared the United States Bureau of Public Roads in Washington intends to "set up an independent organization to spend said fund for Georgia."

The league resolution said it "unqualifiedly condemned" such indicated action because "it is an attempt to openly and flagrantly violate the principle of state rights, and is an attempt to violate the spirit of the constitution in a manner unheard of in the United States."

"Second, it is an attempt to take this large highway fund away from the legally constituted highway authorities of Georgia, and divert it over to a political organization of some kind."

The resolution added "it is an attempt to overthrow the will of the people of Georgia" and "is an attempt to deliberately insult the people of the state."

"It is a step in what appears to be a plan to set up a dictatorship in Washington," the resolution said.

It urged that the Governor and the highway board use all power and means at their disposal to repel this attempted invasion of the rights and sovereignty of the state of Georgia."

The resolution called upon "those in authority in Washington" to desist from further use of public funds allotted to this state for highway construction, and to this end our congressional delegation should take appropriate action."

The Atlanta City-County Board of Commissioners said a copy of the resolution had arrived today, but that Talmadge had not yet seen the paper.

Text of Resolution.
"First, that the Governor and the Highway Board use all power and means at their disposal to repel this attempted invasion of the rights and sovereignty of the state of Georgia."

"Second, that all members of the Georgia delegation in congress fight to the last ditch this gross insult to Georgia."

"Third, that those in authority in Washington desist from further use of public funds allotted to this state for personal or political reprisals, and to this end our congressional delegation should take appropriate action."

"Fourth, that the issues in this matter are far greater than the personalities involved, and are of far more value than the $10,000,000 involved."

"Fifth, that copy of these resolutions should be sent to the President, the Governor, the members of congress from Georgia, the State Highway Board, and to Secretary Wallace."

Monument Unveiled in Memory of Late Tifton Editor

The memory of the late John Lewis Herring, editor of the Tifton (Ga.) Gazette, was honored when citizens of his community unveiled a monument to his name. This picture shows the memorial and the crowd gathered for the unveiling. Three of the editor's grandchildren, Eunice Herring, Bobby Herring and Gerald Neal Herring, left to right, pulled aside the veil. In the background on the left stand Mrs. John Herring, her children and grandchildren, and on the right are members of the Tifton Garden Club who sponsored erection of the monument. Tifton Unveils Marble Monument To Memory of John L. Herring

TIFTON, Ga., July 1.—(P)—Because of his long service to this community, the people of Tifton yesterday honored the memory of John Lewis Herring, editor of the Tifton Gazette, by unveiling a monument to him at exercises in Fulwood park.

Mrs. Herring, who edited the Gazette from 1897 until his death on October 6, 1923, and who was author of "Saturday Night Sketches," descriptive stories of life in the wiregrass section of Georgia half a century ago, was lauded by various speakers for his work in development of this section, and as a good citizen.

Henry T. McIntosh, editor of the Albany (Ga.) Herald, and a friend of the late editor, was chief speaker of this section, and as a good citizen.

He said the people of Mr. Herring's community had gathered to honor the editor 12 years after his death because he "got to give, and lived to serve." Editor Herring's success was not measured in accumulation of wealth, but in the service he gave to developing his community along all lines.

L. E. Bowen read an article written by Colonel C. W. Fulwood, a close friend and business associate of Mr. Herring, in which he told of the adoption of the constitution of this section, of his fight for creation of the first new county, Tift, after 1877, and of his promotion of every development that advanced the welfare of the people of this section.

Mrs. R. E. Ryd read one of the interesting "Saturday Night Sketches."

Mrs. P. O. Fulwood, president of the Tifton Garden Club, which sponsored the erection of the memorial, opened the exercises. She told how Colonel Fulwood conceived the idea of honoring Tifton's builders with memorials in Fulwood park. Colonel Fulwood was honored last year when the park entrance was dedicated to his memory, and he wished others who had shared in the building of Tifton to share in the honors with him, Mrs. Fulwood said. At his suggestion, the Garden Club sponsored the erection of the memorial to Mr. Herring. The marker stands at the southwest corner of the park. It is a handsome structure of granite with a marble slab bearing the inscription:

"John Lewis Herring, a great and beloved citizen. Born, Albany, Ga., December 8, 1868. Died, Tifton, Ga., October 6, 1923. Editor Tifton Gazette 26 years. Author 'Saturday Night Sketches.' He gave his life as a social soldier. The bravest are the tenderest; the loving are the daring. Sponsored by Tifton Garden Club. Donated by citizens of Tifton."

The marker was designed by C. W. Fulwood Jr., and the marble slab and engraving were a gift of L. G. Booth, of Cordele.

Mrs. Otis Woodward was introduced as the chairman of the committee in charge of erecting the memorial, and to whom was given much credit for its completion. Mrs. Woodward had charge of the program.

A double quartet composed of Otis Woodward, H. S. Garrison, E. C. Ball, Orion Mitchell, R. M. Lankford, Warren Baker, I. W. Myers and I. M. Cunningham, sang "Faith of Our Fathers." The Rev. M. P. Webb, pastor of Tifton Methodist church, in

Bird Steals Human Hair For Lining of Her Nest

ROME, Ga., July 1.—Miss Helen Marshall had the experience of finding in her kitchen Sunday a chicken snake that had swallowed a rat which had been caught in a spring trap during the night. The snake had swallowed the rat up to its head, but was unable to get the trap down.

Another unusual sight was witnessed by Miss Marshall a short time before she went to her room near Rome when she watched a bird steal some hair from the head of a guest who was lying for the bird's nest.

The guest, Miss Agnes Gaddis, was seated in a chair on the lawn when the tuffed timonise lit on the back of the chair and pulled several strands of hair from Miss Gaddis' head. The performance was repeated several times while Miss Marshall and other guests watched from a window.

How to Relieve Athlete's Foot
The parasite which attacks the feet between the toes, causing rawness, itching, inflammation and destroying tissue can be killed with nothing less than "Tetterine," a pleasant-scented preparation that soothes instantly, giving quick relief from this acute, contagious condition. Healing and formation of clean, healthy skin promptly follows the use of Tetterine. Get a package from any drug store. Try it and get your money back if not satisfied.—(adv.)

ARKANSAS SALES TAX IS UPHELD BY COURT

Two Per Cent Tax Held Constitutional by Supreme Court.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 1.—(P)—A 2 per cent sales tax went into effect in Arkansas today by supreme court mandate as an organized opposition to the levy moved to overthrow it by flat resistance, legislative repeal and submission to referendum.

Adopted by the 1935 legislature to raise an estimated $2,500,000 annually for the common schools and the state general fund, the tax act went on the statute books last May 1, but test litigation postponed the effective date.

A local chancery court declared it invalid, but the tax was upheld as constitutional by unanimous decision of the supreme court last month. When the supreme court justices met at 10 a. m. today and orally announced denial of motions for rehearing, the levy became immediately collectable.

Even as the state revenue department advised its local agents throughout the state that the tax had gone into effect, merchant groups, who have signed pledges to refrain from collecting the tax from their customers, announced they were "standing pat" and renewed their call for a mass meeting of all opponents at West in Memphis tomorrow to consolidate their ranks.

The meeting is primarily designed to demand a special legislative session looking to repeal.

Harley Stump, Stuttgart leader of the opposition, claimed that "98 per cent of the merchants" in his section of southeast Arkansas refrained from collecting the tax today.

State Revenue Commissioner Earl Wiseman said reports to his office showed collections were general.

Meaningful State Representative Carleton Harris, of Pine Bluff, formally asked the attorney-general for a ruling on whether initiative and referendum should be employed to bring about repeal of the tax.

The attorney-general promised an opinion by tomorrow. Opponents of the tax have stressed a plea of discrimination. Under the act, the city of Texarkana is exempt from collections because half of that city lies in Texas, having no such tax.

The law further exempts staple foods and drugs "necessary to health" from the two per cent levy.

F. D. R. SIGNS BILL TO AID FARM EXTENSION WORK
WASHINGTON, July 1.—(P)—President Roosevelt today signed a bill providing further development of co-operative agricultural extension work and for more complete endowment and support of land grant colleges.

The bill would authorize appropriations of $1,000,000 to $5,000,000 annually for research by the Department of Agriculture and Agricultural Experiment Stations in methods of production and new uses and markets for agricultural products.

It also would authorize appropriations beginning at $5,000,000 a year and rising to $12,000,000 for more complete endowment of land grant colleges and to develop the co-operative extension system of the land grant colleges.

POWER

Good or bad, habits are developed gradually, until by frequent repetition they become constantly accepted by those involved. Good habits are virtues that pay big dividends. ¶ The Atlanta Constitution has long been the big reading habit of Atlanta and its trading area. More than 100,000 copies are delivered daily to readers who devour its pages every morning, eager to get the news, to read its feature columns, editorials and advertisements. ¶ This reading habit formulates the buying habits of Georgia's richest market—Atlanta and its trading area.

—and those merchants who habitually place their advertising messages in The Constitution are reaping the profits.

The Constitution is the family newspaper in Atlanta—of its 44,254 home delivered papers in the city, more than 90% remain in the home all day.

WORK RELIEF PLANS TOLD TO DIXIE CHIEFS

More Than 175 Administration State Officials Attend New Orleans Parley.

NEW ORLEANS, July 1.—(AP)—Executive officials who will direct the expenditure of Dixie's share of President Roosevelt's $4,000,000,000 Works Progress Administration funds today heard Washington officials explain administrative details of the vast program.

More than 175 Emergency Relief Administration and Works Progress Administration state officials, representing Arkansas, Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi, Florida, Texas, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Tennessee and Oklahoma were invited into the details of the vast program by which the national administration hopes to take 3,500,000 men off direct relief rolls and put them to work on federal works projects.

Officials at the conference, which ends tomorrow, said the WPA program would get under way as soon as relief workers could be classified and projects approved.

At a general opening session held this morning, the conference, one of five being held in the United States, heard Alan Johnston, field representative at-large for the FERA and the WPA, say persons put to work must be put "in jobs they like" so that ultimate recovery "will be normal."

The morning session was a general one with the conference split into groups during the afternoon for more detailed and specific explanations of the program.

Malcolm Miller, regional director, who presided over the morning session, said it was "imperative that the works projects be justified as useful to all of the people of the nation."

"Four billion dollars is too much money to spend without getting something for it," J. Phil Campbell, of the AAA, told the conference there were approximately 1,000,000 rural families on relief. Of this number, he said, only 700,000 could be cared for by the rural rehabilitation program and that the WPA would be forced to provide jobs for the remaining 300,000 families.

Dr. M. D. Collins, state superintendent of schools, was elected Georgia director of the National Education Association here today and five other Georgians were named to association posts.

The other Georgians elected were: Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of the schools of the city of Atlanta, chairman of the Georgia delegation to the NEA convention, meeting in opening session here today; Dr. S. V. Sanford, chancellor of the University of Georgia, member of the resolutions committee; Miss Maude Rhodes, principal of the Whiteford elementary school, Atlanta, member of the credential committee; M. E. Thompson, a state school supervisor, member of the necrology committee, and Kyle P. Alford, secretary of the Georgia Education Association, secretary of the Georgia delegation.

Detroit and St. Paul are bidding for the 1938 convention.

When a youngster of three or four—too young to be in school—flies into a temper, that says Dr. Willis A. Sutton, noted Atlanta, Ga., educator, is concerned with the schools and also of the state.

"Take the average boy of preschool age who goes off into a tantrum, and you'll find he or she is spoiled," Dr. Sutton said. "That child needs to be taught how to get along with his fellows."

He says he thinks the state, through its public schools, should do one of two things: either take over the training of children now regarded as too young to go to kindergarten, or train parents how to teach their children until they are of school age. This instruction should be given as "personality training" in reading and spelling and penmanship, Dr. Sutton said.

"Isn't it better for a child to know how to get along with other people before he learns how to read?" he demanded. "Why teach a child of five how to read when he can learn in one-third the time when he is nine, for instance?"

FLOOD YOUR BODY WITH STRENGTH
Feel the bracing effect from first swallow.

So many people are undernourished, and so shaky they can't stand much exertion, because excessive acidity in the stomach destroys the gastric fluids. Then food can't digest. Instead of nourishment, your body gets what comes from the fermenting mass that forms gas, heartburn and acid indigestion. That can't do you any good.

Ask your druggist for three ounce package of Placidin. Drink some water with a teaspoonful of Placidin in it several times during the day, especially before going to sleep. People who take Placidin regularly when the danger signals of excessive acidity (gas, heartburn, etc.) show up are surprising their friends by their pep and vigor.

Their appetite comes back. Food no longer seems to form gas, give heartburn and acid indigestion. They sleep sound. Get up mornings ready for a hard day's work and able to do it without being laid out when it's time to go home. What glorious relief from just a teaspoonful of Placidin as directed on the bottle.

No artificial effect either. Placidin is just the strength in your body like nature intended. You have never seen anything like this before. Placidin will do what you have been expecting from the many things you have been taking because it wipes out the cause of excessive acidity. Placidin is not a purgative. Contains no sugar. IMPORTANT: Say NO if something else is offered to you as being "just as good" as Placidin. You have taken the substitutes before and they did you no good.

THE BOOK GAME

$1,800 in Cash Prizes for Book Titles!

By THE BOOK EDITOR.

"What shall we do now?"

When that question was prompted by a lull in your childhood play, a picturebook was generally found for your enjoyment. Today when you ask "What shall we do now?"—or when that question is presented by some eager youngster—turn to the Book Game. This bright new feature is much like picturebook and certainly as much fun. In addition to the entertainment it affords, there are 35 attractive cash prizes totaling $1,800.

The Book Game is simple to follow because it is so completely understandable and free from bothersome conditions. It consists of 80 pictures, one by Herbert Carter, the famous artist and etcher. These pictures, which we are publishing serially, represent the titles of well-known books, such as "Uncle Tom's Cabin" and "Robinson Crusoe". The prizes will be awarded to those who find the largest number of most appropriate title-answers for the series and abide by the liberal rules.

Late starters in the contest can get all the pictures up to date, together with "The Romance of Books," contained in an abridged publication, this publication, available free, can be had by calling at the Book Game department on the first floor of the Constitution building, Atlanta, or Forsyth streets, or by mail for a 3-cent stamp to cover postage.

Or, if more convenient, "The Romance of Books" and the early pictures of the series may be had for the asking at any of the following conveniently located drug stores:

- TANGLED LOVE -

By MARGARET GORMAN NICHOLS

INSTALLMENT II.

An hour later she stood before the house in which she and Elinor had been born. It was a large three-story structure in a once aristocratic neighborhood. Now the front steps were dingy and a window shade was missing. All along the block were signs "Rooms for Rent" and "Furnished Rooms."

She walked up the steps—steps where she had played—and opened the door and stepped into the dark hall. At the first door she knocked.

When Scott Court opened the door, he saw a rather tall, graceful looking girl in a soft white dress, low-heeled sport shoes, and a white beret. But he gave what she wore only a fleeting glance. It was her face that interested him, her eyes, her mouth, her hair. In that face she knew there was kindness and strength and understanding.

And Noel, looking at the young man, saw that he was very tall, that his dark hair had the stubbornness to wave, and that his eyes challenged hers for darkness and depth. He wore dark trousers and a clean white shirt and was smoking a pipe. He looked, she thought, as though he were the sort of man who had laughter in him. His forehead was high and broad; his eyes were intelligent.

"Who," asked Scott Court, "are you?"

Noel smiled.

"I'm the landlady. I've come to collect the rent."

He smiled as though amused and said, "Come in, won't you?"

He opened the door to a barely furnished studio room and when Noel stepped across the threshold she knew that it was a friendly room and that this stranger beside her smiling was a friendly man.

Scott Court's studio was a large room furnished with a scarred desk, a highboy, and a studio bed. The remains of a meager luncheon of milk and jam were on a card table.

He ushered Noel in and watched her look around the room gravely. Strange, she thought, so poised, and thoughtful.

"So," he said, "you're the landlady! Who is the pompous lady who has been collecting my rent in the past?"

"That was Aunt Jessica."

"So you're a Stuart, too?"

"I'm Noel Stuart."

"Noel? Odd name."

"I was born on Christmas Eve—here," she said slowly.

"Oh," and laughed deep in his throat. "Won't you sit down, Miss Stuart? Cigarette? No? You don't smoke?"

"I never got the habit. I was always in training."

Scott stopped still and looked at her as she sat on the studio bed.

"I'm an inquisitive chap, forgive me. In training for what?"

Noel's lovely eyes looked up.

"Swimming meets."

Their eyes met and both smiled. How charming and how casual he had been! Noel felt into this ugly dark room through which even the sun could scarcely penetrate at noonday! He had not been ashamed of his dingy studio.

Her eyes fell on the desk near the window. It was littered with papers and an old typewriter was perched upon it.

"You're a writer," she said.

Not a question. A statement. Of course, this man was a writer and his profession suited him. The dark-eyed young man such as he was, starved and thumped on ancient typewriters in dingy rooms and finally emerged famous. And that was why they shrugged at face they remembered the lean years of obscurity.

All at once, sitting there, looking absurdly young, Noel wanted to know him... as a friend. With the people on the island she would be an outcast. At their gay parties where Elinor was so flamboyantly popular and sought after, she would never be noticed. Only on the diving board, brown and graceful, would people look at her.

But here in an atmosphere of this kind she could feel at home. She could curl her legs up under her and talk and feel free and alive.

He came to her, put three crisp ten-dollar bills in her hand. His eyes lingered on her.

"You could never be a hard-boiled landlady," he said.

"I need the money," she said. "The rent is all my sister and I have."

"I saw your sister one day in the car waiting for your dignified aunt."

He had seen Elinor's pale gold beauty!

Impulsively he sat beside her, lit a cigarette and once again had an impression of burning dark eyes set in an intelligent face.

"I've wondered about you and your sister."

In a fit of confidence she told him that this same house had been her home in a happier day; she told him of the long years in the vine-covered school, at summer camp, and finally that she was at the island with her aunt and sister... to live.

And Scott, hearing the hurt in her eyes, stirred by her brave confidence, feeling less gallant today about his own plight, said, "You're a plucky little kid. I like you." His eyes rested on the desk. "I was graduated from Harvard two years ago. After my parents died I just went on to see my way through, with a great deal of economizing. I manage to eat now by teaching English in the public night schools in the winter, and yesterday I landed a teaching job at a business college."

Long afterward, when the memory of this afternoon was old yet still vivid, Noel wondered what had prompted such confidence at their first meeting. But Noel, lonely, her new environment distasteful, knew that there was understanding in his eyes and Scott, bored and weary and discouraged, knew that with this slim little girl pretense was not necessary. You could not pretend with Noel. Her honesty forbade it.

Sitting there, close to him, she knew that never until now had she felt this way toward any man. She wanted to touch his lean smooth face, his fine hands.

Scott was thinking, "there a lot to this girl. She's been through the mill, too. A snobbish school with rich girls who probably snubbed her because she was shabby... Christmas no home to go to. Poor kid! We're two waifs together."

"I've two friends I want you to meet," he said, getting up. "Linda Farley and Ned Wilson. Linda's an artist and Ned's an actor. They're both trying to make a living. I think you'll like them."

He opened the door and called out, "Linda! Ned! I want you to meet your new landlady. And what a landlady!"

In a minute or so Noel saw a small red-headed girl with dimples and a laughing face come in, followed by a tall, stout merry-eyed young man. The girl wore a smock streaked with paint, and the stout young man wore a badly frayed velvet jacket.

"Is that it?" asked Linda, laughing.

"Good heavens, it hasn't come to this, has it?" asked Ned.

Scott chuckled. "This is Noel Stuart," he said. "And I want you both to dig down and pay your rent. No stalling this time." He turned to Noel. "We sit around nights when we should be working thinking up ways and means to shock your aunt."

"The last time," said Noel, "when your aunt knocked, I shouted—and believe me, I can shout—that I was in the throes of inspiration. I yelled, Go away! Go away! and shouted like a maniac about maidens in distress and lily white arms."

"Let's celebrate," said Linda, "with a little party for a landlady what ain't used to a landlady. Where's that home-made wine of yours, Scott? Ned, a cigarette, please. Thanks."

Linda tucked her diminutive feet under her, puffed at her cigarette, and proceeded to make Noel like her at once. Ned sat on a cushion at her feet. Scott went to the highboy and produced the wine and poured it in china cups—the best he had.

It was 4 o'clock when Noel left the gay little party. They had talked and laughed, sipped the cool, sweet wine, and given no thought to passing time. And Noel, her real self, her gay, witty self, had studied them beneath her merriment and come to the conclusion that Linda was in love with Scott, and Ned—big good-humored Ned—was in love with Linda. Didn't people ever fall in love with the right people?

When Noel left Linda said, "Come back soon! It was fun. I'm going to do a head of hyacinths. A perfect head, hasn't she, Scott?"

Ned said, "Do come. It's the only time Scott will let us sample the perfume."

Scott said, "Don't wait for the next month's rent before you come again. Soon, Noel."

When she slipped her hand in his, he pressed it hard.

Outside the sun was shining with June brilliance. Scott turned and went back to his work, wondering what she would come again. Noel turned her face toward the island, wondering what Aunt Jessica would say to her long absence.

A narrow bridge joined the mainland and Stuart Island. Noel, sitting in the bright blue bus, thought that the island from a distance looked like a Christmas garden seen from far aloft. Green lawns swept down to the water and crooked roads wound their way in and out. The clubhouse was dazzling white in the afternoon sun. The water, fanned by the sea breeze, hit the beach rhythmically.

Noel, slight figure in white, got off the bus and walked to the dilapidated house on the hill.

In the drawing-room she found Aunt Jessica pale with rage and Elinor in tears.

"Noel," came in a stern voice from her aunt, and the girl stopped abruptly. "Elinor has told me that she sent you to town to collect the rent. What do you mean by going off like that and saying nothing to me?"

Noel frowned. Had Elinor sent her, knowing all the time that Aunt Jessica would reproach her? Elinor dropped her head guiltily.

"You must as well know now," said her aunt, "that Elinor is a very selfish girl. She thinks only of herself."

"I'm sorry," Elinor said, "but I just had to have the money. I owe it to one of the girls. Noel, I'm sorry, darling. I knew you'd be in for it when you got back."

The younger girl stood still, looking from the fearful face of her sister to the outraged face of her aunt.

"Noel," said her aunt, "will you please tell me where you have been? It hasn't taken all this time to collect the rent. You're not free to go and come as you like, my dear, to protect you and look after you."

HAIR IS NEVER A LIVE SUBSTANCE

Hair is a dead substance. There are no nerves or blood vessels in it, and it is not sensitive to pain or disease. It is produced by the skin, which is a living substance, and is dead as soon as it is pushed up by the skin. The root of the hair is under the skin. Nails, feathers, fur and claws are all similar to hair in that they are dead substances, and that all are outgrowths of the skin. (Copyright, 1935, for The Constitution.)

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

WELLS FOR WATER.

There is an old Chinese proverb which says, "Dig a well before you are thirsty."

That is a good idea, and it is followed in most parts of the world. When we dig or drill a well, we reach ground water sooner or later. It may be within a few feet of the surface, but in that case we should boiling for tea, they kill germs and make it safe to drink.

In drilling a well we may go through several layers of rock. Some cities obtain their public water supply from wells, and may be so fortunate that they go down hundreds of feet. In Rockford, Ill., a well was drilled to a depth of 1,600 feet.

The "old oaken bucket" is famed in some ancient story. It is pushed up by thousands of early settlers on this continent. With the help of a windlass and a rope, the bucket was let down into an open well, and then was drawn up, again, full of water which was usually, but not always, fit to drink.

The open well system has been changed almost everywhere in our land. Farms still have wells, but the water is pumped. Often the pumping is done by windmills or by gasoline engines.

People who go from city to country to spend vacations should be careful about the water they drink. It is dangerous to drink from wells or springs which are not known to supply pure water. It is no proof that water is pure because it is "clear as crystal." Typhoid and other germs cannot be seen without the help of microscopes—they may live in water which "looks" as though it were fit to drink.

There may be a little trouble about learning whether or not the water is safe thing to do. If there is doubt, water should be boiled before it is used, or obtained elsewhere.

keep on drilling. Water which we find near the ground surface is not safe to drink, unless it comes from springs which are known to contain pure water.

As water flows through the rocks, it tends to "purify" itself. Deep wells, especially those with a depth of more than 100 feet, are almost sure to contain pure water.

In some countries (in China, for example) many persons in cities obtain water by buying it from men who wheel barrels or tanks of it through the streets. It is said that a reason the Chinese fell into the custom of drinking so much tea was because they did not have a safe water supply in many sections. By

WOMAN FOUND SLAIN, THREE HELD BY POLICE

Robbery Seen as Motive in Ax Killing of Margaret Henderson.

Believed to have been beaten to death with an ax for $15 which she had in a pocketbook hidden in her clothing, Miss Margaret Henderson, 35, of 66 Mills street, N. W., yesterday was found lying across her bed by police who were called to the residence by neighbors who heard the sounds of a struggle followed by moans and then silence.

Officers were forced to break down the door to gain admittance and at first the murder seemed a mystery angle as to the means of the killer's escape. The door had been held shut by a chair which had been wedged under the knob and the window screen was discovered to be locked on the inside.

The mystery eventually was solved when it was discovered that it was possible to enter and leave the room through a small window.

Radio Patrolman C. J. Hughes and F. M. Bell, who responded to the call, found a man's pocketbook on the bed beside the body and a flashlight on the floor near by. The pocketbook was empty and bore no identifying marks. A man and two women roomers in the house were held by police as material witnesses. They are Fern Gold, Eva Abernathy and J. C. Elliott. They told officers that they had heard no sounds of a struggle. Miss Gold said she had been awakened by the sound of low moans.

The body was taken to the funeral home of J. Austin Dillon Company where an inquest will be held at 9 o'clock this morning.

A proposed program of lighting over 6,000 miles of national roads in France by electricity is expected to reduce accidents by 35 per cent.

G.O.P. MOVE TO DELAY TAX PROGRAM BLOCKED

Minority Leadership, However, Will Push Plea for Special November Session

WASHINGTON, July 1.—(AP)—Administration Democrats today rejected a proposal by senate republicans to postpone consideration of President Roosevelt's tax program until a special session in November, but the minority leadership determined to push the suggestion to a vote.

A resolution, calling for a special session November 18, was formally advanced by Senator McNary, republican leader, on behalf of Senator Hastings, republican, Delaware, who was out of the city.

Immediate opposition came from Chairman Harrison, of the senate finance committee, and senator La Follette, progressive, Wisconsin, leader of the drive to consider the tax recommendations at this session.

"We're going ahead with the tax bill at this session," Harrison said, emphatically. He planned to begin hearings within a few days, in order to expedite consideration of the measure. House hearings are scheduled to begin a week from today.

Will Ask Vote Today.
McNary said, however, that he would ask for a vote tomorrow on the Hastings plan.

"It's become apparent," McNary said, "that the administration schedules will raise nearer $100,000,000 than $340,000,000. To get any money we will have to revise the whole tax structure. The taxes are not levied until next year, anyway. What's the hurry?"

McNary said the special session proposal probably would be defeated, but added many democrats privately favored it. "There isn't a fellow in this chamber that doesn't think it's perfectly foolish to take up this tax question now," he said.

"I'm opposed to that proposition," La Follette said, "because the time to levy these taxes is now. Every month that goes by delays the collection of much needed revenue. If it's proposed by Hastings, it's a move on the part of those implacably opposed to taxes on the ability to pay."

"Inconsistency Demonstrated."
"It demonstrates the inconsistency of their position," he said, "that they will oppose the bill when it is proposed to cut off the deficit they want to put out in six months."

The Hastings resolution proposed that when congress shall have completed its legislative program, except for the revenue bill, it shall adjourn until Monday, November 18, 1935.

It proposed that while the revenue committee of the two houses should "study the financial condition of the government as to income and expenditures and make such recommendations as they find necessary to balance the budget and begin the reduction of the national debt."

J. MARVIN ALDRICH, BANKER, SUCCEUMS

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 1.—(AP)—J. Marvin Aldrich, 71, banker and owner of farming interests at Michigan City, Miss., died at a hospital here early today. He entered the hospital June 7.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Alice Eugenia Aldrich, and two sons, M. T. and R. E. Aldrich, of Michigan City, Ind. He was born at Holly Springs, Miss., tomorrow.

O. B. MARTIN.
COLLEGE STATION, Texas, July 1.—(AP)—O. B. Martin, 63, director of the Texas A. and M. College extension service, died last night at a Bryan hospital of a paralytic stroke.

He came here in 1927 from Washington, where he had been director of Department of Agriculture extension work for the south region, comprising the cotton-growing states. A native of South Carolina, Martin was a graduate of Furman University.

BARTHOLOMEW DONNELLY.
ROSTON, July 1.—(AP)—Bartholomew J. Donnelly, 68, of Swampscott, winter resident of Daytona, Fla., died Friday in a Boston hospital from heart trouble that developed since his return from Daytona three weeks ago. He was a member of the firm of Shea & Donnelly, Lynn, Mass., store dealers. A widower, he left no children.

HOWARD HILDER.
MIAMI, July 1.—(AP)—Apparently the victim of a heart attack, Howard Hilder, 68, well known scenic and mural painter, was found dead yesterday in his Coconut Grove home, where he lived alone. Hilder was born in London and came to this country 30 years ago.

TEXTILES OBSERVING CULTILMENT PLANS

CHARLOTTE, N. C., July 1.—(AP)—W. M. McLaurine secretary of the American Cotton Manufacturers' Association, said today he was informed practically all southern textile plants remained closed today, observing the curtilment program recently agreed upon by a large portion of the industry.

McLaurine said he did not have reports from individual concerns, but that his advice indicated few, if any, spindles were turning, and would not do so for a week.

There were no operating plants here, "and it was understood almost all the more than 250,000 persons employed in mills of the two Carolinas were idle."

MAURETANIA SAILS ON HER LAST VOYAGE

SOUTHAMPTON, England, July 1.—(AP)—To the strains of a band playing "Auld Lang Syne" and as a large crowd waved farewell, the Mauretania, once proud queen of the seas, sailed today on her last voyage—to a scrap heap at Rosyth.

Only a small party was aboard as the famous old liner, already stripped of most of her fittings, embarked on the trip to a ship's graveyard in the Scottish Firth of Forth, where she will be junked.

GLORIA VANDERBILT BACK WITH MOTHER

NEW YORK, July 1.—(AP)—Little Gloria Vanderbilt, closely guarded by detectives, was turned over to her mother, Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt, by her aunt, Mrs. Harry Paine Whitney, today for the month's visit that the law has prescribed.

Mrs. Whitney did not accompany the child. Gloria arrived in the Whitney limousine, accompanied by the Whitney governess and a Whitney detective. The party was met at the gates of the estate by two Vanderbilt detectives. Everyone else was barred from the grounds. The governess stayed at the Vanderbilt house with the child.

N. Y. OPENS CAMPAIGN ON VICE AND CRIME

Young Lawyer Appointed to Direct Crusade Against Criminal Elements.

NEW YORK, July 19.—(AP)—Thomas E. Dewey, vigorous young attorney and former federal district attorney was placed today at the helm of a new drive on commercialized vice and crime, comparable potentially to the not-to-be-forgotten Seabury investigation of four years ago.

Selected by Governor Herbert Lehman as his choice to supersede District Attorney William C. Dodge in smashing vice and rackets, Dewey accepted the formal appointment as special prosecutor from Dodge upon the condition of "absolute freedom" and adequate investigating facilities.

The gathering throng of the new drive threw into dark retrospect the half century or more of deep-rooted criminality and racketeering in New York city.

While fashions in rackets and crime have changed with the times the elements of reform and law enforcement have warred—often with historic results—against politico-criminal liaisons since the 60's, when the Dewey, at 32, now becomes successor to the big club waved in New York by the Lexow committee, which smashed Tammany's "Dick" Croker and the tieup of police and criminality. Dr. Charles H. Dewey's appointment followed upon an ultimatum of Governor Lehman to the Dodge committee, which had been in racket matters, after the Marc grand jury denounced the district attorney for laxity in office and flatly stated the probable underworld connections in city courts and political offices.

The inquiry is scheduled to start July 23, the date of convening of the special session of supreme court ordered by the governor, and is expected to grow out of the investigation.

Dewey will work with a specially ap-the governor. The investigation itself, Dewey said, will follow the "same broad lines" laid down by the governor.

Atlantans To Celebrate Glorious Fourth at Sea Island Beach, Ga.

By Sally Forth.

THE sizzling and popping of firecrackers on Thursday will mark the celebration of Uncle Sam's independence. No more colorful nor picturesque background for a celebration can be found than Sea Island with its beach skirting the blue waters of the Atlantic. Featuring the glorious Fourth at Sea Island will be the water carnival and sports program given at the Casino pool, in addition to the races and contests in which the younger set will take part.

In the evening a dance will be held in the ballroom at the Casino, when a floor show will be a highlight of the program. A patriotic note will be reflected in the decorations in red, white and blue which will be effectively employed in the ballroom.

Golfers will find particular interest in the tombstone tournament for men and women which will be held at the Sea Island Golf Club. Appropriate prizes will be presented to the golfers who plant their "tombstones" the farthest with their allotted number of strokes.

Among Atlantans spending the glorious Fourth at Sea Island will be Mrs. Joseph D. Rhodes, Mr. and Mrs. Carson M. Sewell, John Laughlin, Harold Maroney, Mrs. George Tarrant, Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Conrad, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Cates, Mrs. L. W. Robert Jr., Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Robert III, Miss Louisa Robert and Mrs. C. D. Pearson.

Mr. and Mrs. William Candler, with their daughter, Mrs. W. T. Chambers, and their son, William Candler Jr., are at the Casino, and among others at this hotel are Dr. and Mrs. F. C. Gausemel, Dr. and Mrs. William McDougall, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Hitt, Daniel Whitehead Hickey, Eugene Ivey and Mrs. J. S. Dugan.

Among the attractive newlyweds to whom Sally would like to extend a cordial welcome are Mr. and Mrs. William S. Aycock Jr., who arrived Sunday for residence. A pair of native Atlantians, they came direct to Atlanta from their wedding journey and have taken an apartment at 2855 Peachtree road.

Mrs. Aycock is the former Margaret O'Dell, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Dell, of Birmingham, and one of the loveliest, so Sally hears, of that city's younger members of society. Her marriage to Mr. Aycock, who was reared in Selma, Ala., was solemnized at a brilliant church ceremony two weeks ago. She is a graduate of Howard College and a member of the Alpha Delta Pi sorority. He is a member of the fourth estate.

Mrs. Robert J. Taylor Jr. has planned a bridge-tee to be given on Friday as a complimentary gesture to Mrs. Aycock. The party will be given at her lovely home in Druid Hills and will assemble a group of the young married contingent to meet the charming newcomer.

CONSPICUOUS among the interesting July visitors is Miss Georgia Aiken, of Cincinnati, one of the most learned among the well-known educators in the United States. She is visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Aiken at the Georgian Terrace, and has the distinction of being one of seven educators appointed to attend the biennial conference of the World Federation of Education Association to be held at Oxford University in August.

Miss Aiken teaches in the twenty-third district school in Cincinnati, which is a demonstration school of the University of Cincinnati. She has held important offices in the National Education Association, and is well known in this particular work. Her trip to England, an honor bestowed upon Miss Aiken by the national association, will be taken to promote good will and understanding with educators representing other associations.

ATLANTANS are exceedingly proud of Bee Rich. She graduated recently from Smith College, and in addition to the many honors won during her college days, Bee received her A. B. degree at her graduation. Magna cum laude was also bestowed upon this charming girl, whose scholastic record was a credit to herself and her Alma Mater.

Bee is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rich. She is not content with the remarkable record made at Smith College, as she plans to enter Johns Hopkins next year to begin her four-year study of medicine and surgery. Mrs. Rich and Bee recently returned from a leisurely motor trip from Northampton, Mass., following Bee's graduation from Smith College.

Davis-Killinger Rites Take Place.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Evan Davis, of Fort Payne, Ala., formerly of Chattanooga, Tenn., announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Grace Evangeline Davis, to Dr. George Glenn Killinger, of Knoxville, Tenn., formerly of Marion, Va. The ceremony took place at the St. Raphael Episcopal church and was performed by Dr. W. W. Memminger, who also officiated at the marriage of the bride's parents.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Van Davis, who wore pink organza made empire style. Her wide-brimmed leghorn hat was trimmed with a cluster of pastel-shaded flowers, and she carried an old-fashioned bouquet of varicolored flowers. Ralph Killinger, the groom's brother, acted as best man, and Robert Davis Jr. and W. B. Davis III acted as ushers. The bride's gown was fashioned of Peau d'Ange lace with which she wore an exquisite tulle and lace veil and valley lilies. Her bouquet was formed of gardenias.

Dr. Killinger and his bride left for their wedding trip and after July 15 they will be at home in the Fort Sanders manor in Knoxville, Tenn., where the former is with the TVA in the clinical department.

The bride's mother was before her marriage Miss Van MacKinnon, of this city, and her grandmother is Mrs. William Lincoln Barnes, of Atlanta.

Miss Zachry Weds Clement Sutton Jr. At Quiet Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Willena Harper Zachry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Zachry, to Clement Evans Sutton Jr., of this city, formerly of Washington, Ga., was solemnized last evening at 6 o'clock at the Druid Hills Methodist church by the pastor, Rev. Brandon Peters.

The bride wore an attractive tailored dress of brown net trimmed in pink pique. Her hat was of pink straw and she wore a shoulder cluster of bronze-colored orchids.

Mr. Sutton and his bride left immediately after the ceremony for a motor trip to North Carolina. Upon their return they will make their home in an apartment on Piedmont avenue.

The betrothal of the former Miss Zachry and Mr. Sutton was announced several weeks ago. The announcement of their marriage is of interest to a wide circle of friends as the bride and groom are popular members of Atlanta's younger set. They will be attractive additions to the city's young married contingent.

Mr. Sutton is the son of Judge Clement Evans Sutton, of Washington, Ga., who came to Atlanta for the marriage. The bridegroom is connected with the Georgia Power Company.

Atlanta U. D. C. Sponsors Oil Painting Exhibition Tomorrow

Exhibition of "The Huntsman's Door," an oil painting valued at $100,000, will open Wednesday at 10 o'clock in the Norris building, 221 Peachtree street, under the auspices of the Atlanta Chapter U. D. C. The exhibit will be in charge of Gilman Low, internationally-known exhibitor who appraised the picture, which is the work of R. La Barre Goodwin, who was born in Albany, N. Y., in 1840, an artist famous for his interpretations of nature.

An oil painting of General Robert E. Lee by Mr. Low, appraised at $2,500, will be on exhibition honoring the Daughters of the Confederacy. Furniture for the lobby has been loaned by the Storch Furniture Company. Members of Atlanta chapter will be hostesses each day, and Mrs. Forrest Kibler, president of the chapter, has appointed the following committee: Wednesday, Mrs. John Marshall Slaton and Mrs. Hal Hentz, hostesses; committee, Mesdames Alva Kiser, John Hancock and Bun Wylie, Thursday, Mrs. Charles F. Tuesday, Children of the Confederacy Day with Mesdames Odie Poundstone, M. Herzberg and G. H. Faust, hostesses, with Mesdames W. M. Jenkins, Helen Jones, Henry J. Baker, committee.

Mr. Low will lecture on the painting, "The Huntsman's Door," at 10 o'clock at the door, the exhibit to open at 10 o'clock each morning and continue until 10 at night. The percentage of the proceeds coming to the chapter will be used for the educational and historical work of the organization. Mrs. Kibler and officers of the chapter urge Atlantans to avail themselves of the opportunity of seeing this valuable painting.

Hurdling The Pre-emptive

Many methods have been devised for reaching games and slams after an opponent has made a pre-emptive bid. These methods—the forcing trump or recall and the co-operative double particularly—are very effective. Nevertheless there can be no question but that an opening bid by your seriously hampers the other side in its bidding. The four-bid cuts of two or three valuable rounds of bidding in which information could be exchanged by the partners who hold most of the high cards.

Effective.

The most effective pre-emptive

South's bid of four hearts was sound enough he holds neither Ace nor King. Almost invariably a hand such as South's will take seven tricks for itself, so the maximum possible is 500 points and with any assistance from North, a one or two-trick takeout is all that is needed.

West was in a difficult situation. He had to choose between a bid of four hearts for the four-heart bid. He did not wish to bid four notrump because he was not prepared for a response of five diamonds. The five-club bid was his only alternative and, as a result, he bid four clubs.

West was a very experienced and generous bid considering West's vulnerability. Had North, for example held West's cards, West could have been defeated 500 points.

It would not have been unusual for West to have bid West's five-club bid to six, largely because he had support for the club suit. The price

Once West had been able to open the bidding and East in response, the overcall by South could have prevented their bidding correctly. Over our diamond South would bid four hearts. West could now bid four spades. I assume, having shown his club suit, he would not be giving false information as to the spade strength.

By G. A. PHILLIPS.

NEW YORK, July 1.—(AP)—

A smart rally in junior railroad obligations was the principal feature of the corporate bond market today. Other divisions were steady. While United States governments were mostly lower, utility issues did not have an opportunity to give expression to the smashing victory scored by opponents of "death sentence" holding company legislation because the vote was taken in the house after the close. But this group displayed steadiness throughout the session and there was little pressure even when first returns indicated a much closer division than the final result bore out.

The Associated Press average of 20 rail loans advanced .4 of a point to 83.0 and the average of 10 utility bonds yielded .1 of a point to 95.8. The average of 10 industrial got into new high ground for the year at 97.2, up .1 of a point on balance. Transfers aggregated $9,071,000, per value, compared with $10,925,000 last Friday.

Low-priced rails, which ran into some trouble toward the end of last week after climbing unimpeded for more than 10 days, displayed something like their old vigor today. Advances of 1 to 2 points were frequent and included issues of the St. Paul, Baltimore & Ohio, Chicago & Terre Haute, Illinois Central, Lehigh Valley, New Haven and Wabash.

Other firm spots included Purdy Bakersies 5s at 95 1-4, Walworth 6s at 96, International Paper 5s at 75 1-4, Consolidated Gas 1 1/2s at 105 3-4, and Illinois Steel debenture 4 1/2s at 107 1-8.

In most cases the turnover in utility loans was extremely small, reflecting the tranquility of owners while the holding company debate raged in Washington. American Waterworks & Columbia Gas 5s were among others that slid off minor fractions shortly before the close.

Treasury bonds again were lifeless and closing ranges ranged from 1/32nd higher to 3/32nds lower. Index and foreign bonds also were quiet and moved about in a narrow range.

Public offering of a new issue of $35,000,000 Southern California Edison 3 3/4s and $9,705,000 Central Gas & Electric Corporation 1 1/2s was made today. Syndicate managers reported a brisk demand for both issues.

FURTHER DROP SEEN IN STEEL OPERATIONS

NEW YORK, July 1.—(AP)—Steel operations for the current week are estimated by the American Iron & Steel Institute at 32.9 per cent of capacity. This is a decline of 4.9 points from the estimated level of 37.7 per cent for the previous week.

The decline, one of the sharpest recorded since the trend of production turned downward in the spring, is largely a reflection of mill curtailment in connection with the July 4 holiday.

The estimate for the current week compares with an operating rate of 30.5 per cent a month ago and 25 per cent a year ago.

FURTHER DROP SEEN IN STEEL OPERATIONS

NEW YORK, July 1.—(AP)—Steel operations for the current week are estimated by the American Iron & Steel Institute at 32.9 per cent of capacity. This is a decline of 4.9 points from the estimated level of 37.7 per cent for the previous week.

The decline, one of the sharpest recorded since the trend of production turned downward in the spring, is largely a reflection of mill curtailment in connection with the July 4 holiday.

The estimate for the current week compares with an operating rate of 30.5 per cent a month ago and 25 per cent a year ago.

POTATO CONTROL PLAN

IS NOT YET APPROVED

WASHINGTON, July 1.—(AP)—

Chairman Smith, Democrat, South Carolina, of the senate agriculture committee, today explained to President Roosevelt why the proposed potato control plan was not included in the AAA amendments approved Saturday by the senate body.

He said the committee, while favorable to the proposal to make potatoes a basic commodity, failed to include the control plan because it was thought the issue should be considered separately in view of the administrative and taxation features.

Smith added the AAA amendments would not be reported to the senate until a prepared report can be completed. He said they probably would be done by Wednesday.

The South Carolina senator, in answer to questions relative to reports that the AAA amendments would empower Secretary Wallace, of the Agriculture Department, to regulate advertising, said:

"I've never seen such a provision in the bill. If it is there it missed my eyesight."

Discussing the potato control plan which originated in the house with introduction of a bill by Representative Warren, Democrat, North Carolina, Smith said the President showed considerable interest in the measure.

The bill was not introduced in the senate but proponents proposed it be included in the AAA amendments. It also was understood President Roosevelt agreed to this method of getting the proposal before congress.

The Warren bill is still pending before the house agriculture committee, but action is expected shortly. Hearings lasting over a period of several months have been held.

Smith also said he discussed local matters "rather than personal in nature" with the President in a conference which lasted nearly a half-hour.

In decided contrast with a downward tendency at the outset, when soon responded to aggressive buying that found offerings scarce. Giving the fact that samples taken from many Nebraska fields showed black rust, potatoes ruptured on the head straw of wheat plants. This condition was ascribed to the high level of the heads, and to the fact that the heads were not properly covered by the straw.

Similar infestation of winter wheat was reported as general in Wyandotte county, Kansas. Heads of wheat there were described as but partly eaten, and the stems practically eaten through. Under such circumstances, black rust developments from many wheat trade almost exclusively, and much talk was heard the situation assured that in the coming three weeks wheat and rust both Nebraska and in spring wheat states northwest.

Corn and oats sympathized with wheat strength, but afterward reacted black, or less to favorable weather for corn.

Provisions averaged lower, influenced by downturns of hog values.

DAILY SHORT STORY

MY OLD FLAME

Lilly Had Not Changed Greatly in the Ten Years Since He Had Seen Her; People Like Her Didn't.

BY M. A. TAPP.

It was 10 a. m. His secretary, having noticed detachedly the usual tardy arrival of her employer, placed the morning's personal mail on the desk in his private office. Turning from the hat tree after shrugging himself out of his coat, Robert Rankin settled himself in the comfortable chair and began methodically to rifle the handful of assorted envelopes.

There was the usual variety of acknowledgments from business houses, invitations to business luncheons, a notice of a fraternal meeting. His hand paused in the act of alighting the envelope open under the flap of a small envelope as he noticed an engraved return address on the back.

Turning it over, he inspected the superscription curiously. It was written in a delicately feminine hand, vaguely familiar.

A bit eagerly he opened the letter and withdrew the message. It was inscribed to "Dear Bob" and his eyes skipped ahead to the signature, signed "Lilly." That could mean only one person in the world... Lilly Bennett. He hadn't seen her since before he had been married.

...and I chanced to see your name mentioned in the paper, so naturally I would like to see you again while I am in town. Will you call me?"

His heart gave a few unaccounted flutters as he read the invitation. He remembered the Lilly he had known so well 10 years ago, the unconventional, "arty" girl whom he had almost married.

He placed the letter on a corner of his desk, near the picture of his wife and their 6-year-old son. Several times in the past hour his mind was drawn to reminiscence by the sight of it. Finally, he thought, "Well, why not?" His hand reached toward the cradle phone.

A 4 o'clock Rankin was standing by the window of his office looking out at the downtown panorama. Running through his mind was a medley of remembered incidents which he

N. CAROLINA OPENS RUM STORE TODAY

Wilson County To Have First
Liquor; Two Others Vote on Question.

RALEIGH, N. C., July 1.—(P)—The first liquor store to be operated in North Carolina under statutes passed in the closing hours of the recent general assembly will open at noon tomorrow at Wilson. Two more counties vote on the legalization of the sale of liquor and nine others prepare to ballot during the week.

The Wilson County Alcoholic Control Board announced its decision to start sales tomorrow after it had received a federal license from internal revenue offices in Greensboro today.
A car load of liquor which has been on a railroad since it was unloaded at Wilson several days ago is being unloaded tonight and placed in a store. The building has been renovated and fixtures installed.
As Wilson opens its store, New Hanover (Wilmington) and Craven (New Bern) counties will go to the polls to vote on the question.

SEC COUNCIL NAMED FOR ATLANTA OFFICE

Tennessee, South Carolina
Men Are Appointed to Key Positions.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—The Securities Exchange Commission today announced the appointment of William Green, of Lebanon, Tenn., director and Robert A. Ballentine, of Wallalla, S. C., counsel of the Atlanta headquarters of the commission.

Appointment of the Tennessee and South Carolina men as leading officials of the Atlanta headquarters was the result of a compromise effected whereby Atlanta was chosen by the division of regional administration as headquarters of eight states in the southeastern area. Congressmen from some of these states pointed out that inasmuch as the Georgia city had been selected headquarters for the state could not expect to profit from appointments to key position in the SEC setup there.

Mr. Green came to Washington as an attorney for the Securities Commission in 1933 shortly after that agency had been organized, since which time he has performed the duties of trial examiner. He is regarded by commission officials as an able attorney and one thoroughly familiar with stock market transactions. He left Washington yesterday for Atlanta to assist in opening that headquarters today.

Little is known about the background of Mr. Ballentine other than he is a practicing attorney at Wallalla, S. C. He has not been associated with the commission either in Washington or in the field.

MORTUARY

MRS. ANNIE COOK. Last rites for Mrs. Annie Cook, of 196 Fulton street, East Point, who died Sunday, were held yesterday at the Salem Baptist church. The Rev. Delbert officiated. Burial was in the churchyard. Howard L. Carmichael was in charge of the funeral.

MICHAEL FOX. Funeral services for Michael Fox, operator of the Antique House on Auburn avenue and known to hundreds of Atlantans as "The Antiquarian," were held at 9 o'clock yesterday in Sacred Heart church. The Rev. John Emmett officiating. Burial was in West View cemetery. Mr. Fox died Friday at a local hospital.

C. V. RAINES JR. Funeral services for C. V. Raines Jr., who died Saturday in West Palm Beach, Fla., will be held at 10 o'clock this morning at West View cemetery with the Rev. D. J. Fant officiating and R. M. Patterson & Son in charge. Mr. Raines, a native Georgian, was an automobile dealer at West Palm Beach. He was 65 years old. Surviving are his wife, a son, C. V. Raines Jr., of Tampa; a daughter, Mrs. D. J. Fant, of Atlanta; and two brothers, W. W. Raines, of Atlanta, and T. A. Raines, of Norcross.

LAWRENCE T. HOGAN. Lawrence T. Hogan, 64, died yesterday afternoon at the family residence, 554 Chestnut street. He is survived by his wife, four daughters, Mrs. H. R. Horton, Mrs. J. B. Hogan and Bill Smith; three sisters, Mrs. Oscar Adcock, Mrs. Ella Mark and Mrs. Emma May, and his mother, Mrs. Mary Hogan, of Waco, Ga. Funeral services will be conducted at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Congregational Holiness church with the Rev. Watson Sorrow and I. H. Brooks officiating and Blanchard Brothers in charge. Burial will follow in Mount Zion cemetery, Hapeville.

MISS FRANKIE WATSON, of 91 Howard street, Decatur, incurred a fracture of the shoulder when she slipped and fell last night while crossing Forsyth street at Peachtree. She was taken to Grady hospital for treatment.

CUTCLIFFE IS GRANTED
RESPIRE BY TALMADGE. Governor Talmadge has granted a 35-day respite to Walter Cutcliffe, of Atlanta, under sentence to serve 12 months on the chain gang following his conviction on a charge of operating a lottery. The respite was granted in order to permit Cutcliffe to present a plea for clemency to the prison commission. The plea was filed with the commission yesterday.

In his application before the prison commission Cutcliffe states that he has quit the lottery racket and is now engaged in the loan business. He states that he has an aged father and mother to support, and that he plans to remain in legitimate businesses in the future.
